And Touching

In this confused, polluted, and rebellious world, today's youth are trying to reach out and grasp for peace, for things that have never been. BCHS students are also striving to reach other goals. In '71-72, music students brought home many superior ratings from solo and ensemble contest, the track team won the '71 Brownstown Invitational, and the BC cheerleaders grabbed a superior rating at Vincennes.

Goals sometimes seem light years away, but if we keep struggling to retain our beliefs, our ingenuity, impossible things can be ours. By cooperating, by trying to understand and help solve the world's problems, we at Central can endeavor to relieve some of the tensions and rebellions of our world. Solutions to today's problems can be brought about through our reaching out and caring.

Summer Sprouts Jobs,

Carol Wischmeier, Kathy Disque, Deb Fleetwood, Bonnie Pottschmidt, Marcia Brewer, Debbie Darlage, Teresa Mulberry, Joyce Greger, and Jeanne Reid attended summer cheerleading camp at Vincennes.

Amy Mitchell, Sandy Kloppenburg, Carol Reid, and Gene Tabor attended IU Music Clinic.

Representing BCHS at Girls' and Boys' State at Indiana University were Jane Waskom and Amy Mitchell, David Sherrill, Gene Tabor, and Jack Hauer.

Fun, Workshops

During the '71 summer, students from BCHS vacationed, earned money, and learned new techniques. Jobs became important as more students undertook responsibilities as employees.

Meanwhile, students were representing BCHS and gaining new insight at workshops. Students attending workshops at IU were Deb Wolka, Linda Cunningham, Jane Redicker, and Marianne Turmail, HSJI; Debbie Baker, Latin conference; and Amy Mitchell, Carol Reid, Sandy Kloppenburg, and Gene Tabor, music. Varsity and reserve yelleaders went to Vincennes cheerleading camp. Delegates to Girls' and Boys' State were Jane Waskom, Amy Mitchell, David Sherrill, Jack Hauer, and Gene Tabor.

Friendships were renewed at the County Fair and the beginning of school was again anticipated.

Attending IU Latin Conference for outstanding academic achievements in Latin was Debbie Baker.

Kathy Wessel earns her summertime wages by carhopping part-time at a local drive-in restaurant.

Jane Redicker, Marianne Turmail, Debbie Wolka, and Linda Cunningham represented the TeePee Times and the Quiver, respectively, at the IU High School Journalism Institute last summer.

Collegiate Musicians Entertain

Accepting the Freedom Shrine plaque from James Owens, adjutant-general of Indiana, Mr. Driver, Mr. Owens, Mr. James Bond, and Mr. Lyman Goben stand before the shrine located at the rear of the cafeteria.

While they are eating lunch and in the free time afterward, Junior girls chat about happenings of the day.

Roger Crockett listens attentively to one of the new tapes available for student use at Guidance Center.

BCS Students

Joyce Turmail and Teresa Norman (background) act as cheerleaders in a Soph. skit for spirit stick.

Wedge between classes, tests, and learning were ball games, thinking of that certain someone, and the private feelings of high school days which will remain a misty blur of good memories as years go by.

Special convocations ranging from traditional holiday convos and honor roll convos to special ones like the Ball State and Vincennes University Singers will be remembered. Pep sessions with chants, yells, skits, pep talks by coaches and players, and competition between the classes for the spirit stick were a weekly occurrence.

New this year was "Tobacco, Alcohol, and Narcotics," a class taught by Mr. Neal which gave the students some idea of the dangers of cigarettes, alcohol, and drugs.

The Hoopla Traveling Hoop was a trophy available to schools in the Evansville Semistate. It was given to BCHS after the varsity basketball team defeated Austin and remained here until another team in the Semistate beat the Braves.

The Ball State University Singers perform the finale of a number during a convocation which included a wide variety of musical tastes. The choral department arranged their visit as entertainment for the student body.

Mr. Blevins and Mr. Roessler accept the Traveling Hoopla Award after BC varsity defeated Austin.

Prom Visits Exotic Island

Working hard to transform the cafeteria into a magical exotic island were members of the junior class. With the use of palm trees, an ocean mural, and a gigantic Tiki mask, they pursued their theme, "Tahitian Twilight," in a tropical setting.

Dancing to the music of the "Turnabouts" and strolling through the moonlit garden, dates became enchanted under the spell of the South Seas. Highlighting the evening was the crowning of the 1971 Prom Queen, Debbie Fleetwood.

At midnight the couples transferred to the "Hee-Haw" theme at the after prom where they were entertained by "SAGE." Humorous skits were presented by parents of senior class members. The giving away of prizes donated by local businesses completed the pre-dawn festivities.

The eighth grade Prom servers dip out cups of punch for Jeff Schneider and his date.

The Tahitian queen, Debbie Fleetwood, and her court of island beauties, Joann Spray, Sherry Skelton, Kathy Disque, Carol Reid, Carol Perry, and Roxann Tullidge, with their escorts, stand before the Tiki mask and lovely island mural.

Entering the world of "Tahitian Twilight," Lynn Tiemeyer and Jeanne Reid admire the exotic flowers, plam trees, colorful shells, and other articles of island life that await them and other Prom goers.

Pat Bahan and Janet Martin pause for a rest in the grass hut, center of attraction in the garden.

Jerry Jackson escorts Deb Fleetwood to be crowned queen during 1971 Prom coronation ceremonies.

Brownstown Central Coeds Reign

On the 1971 football court are Peggy Sherrill, Marsha Hollin, Queen Kathy Disque, Rhonda Melloncamp, and Cheryl Mann. Escorts are Tim Terkhorn, Rick Stilwell, John Morgan, Prabhat

Swarup, and Mike Moenning. Junior escorts are Mike Isaacs and Celina Disque.

The Varsity Braves charge through the players' hoop, decorated for Homecoming by the art department.

Kathy Disque's smiling face expresses her emotions as John Morgan crowns her 1971 Football Queen.

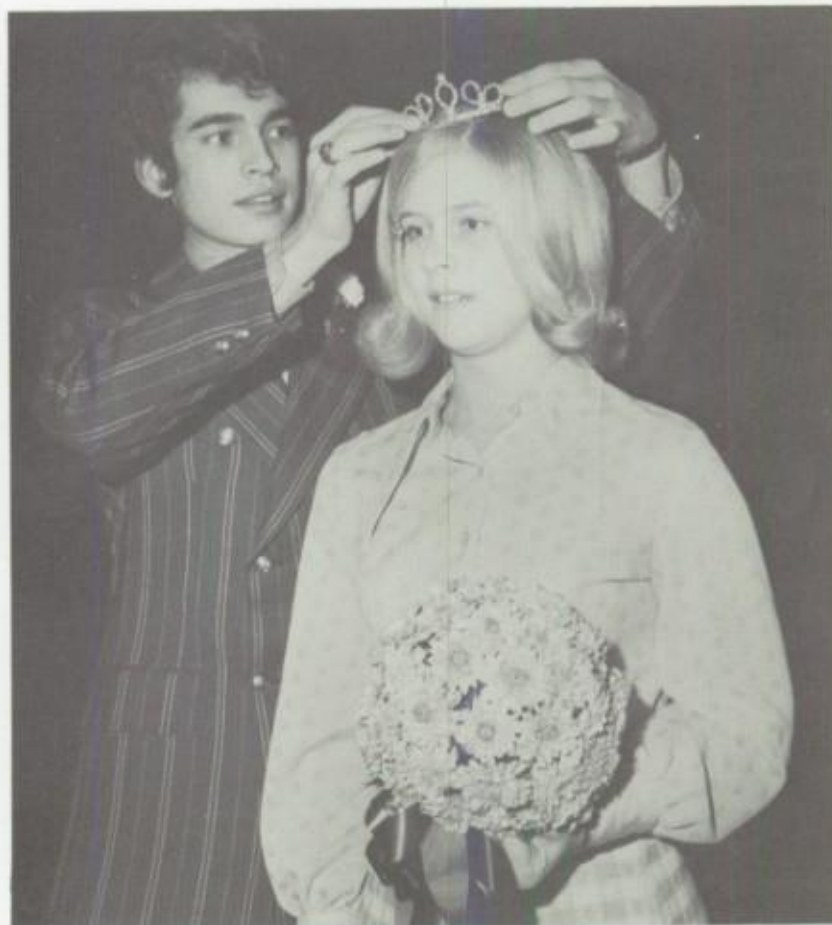

At '71-'72 Homecoming Festivities

Ending ballgame seasons on a pretty note were the '71-'72 basketball and football Homecoming coronations. The football Homecoming Queen, Kathy Disque, was chosen from four senior candidates, three from each of the other classes. Escorts for the girls were elected by the classes.

Kathy Lambring, Junior, was crowned basketball Homecoming Queen. She was selected from sixteen candidates, composed of four girls representing each class. Her court consisted of six girls and the candidates selected their escorts.

In a special convocation the Queen and her court for each event were elected by the student body, excluding the eighth grade. Selections were kept secret until their announcement during the half-time of the game.

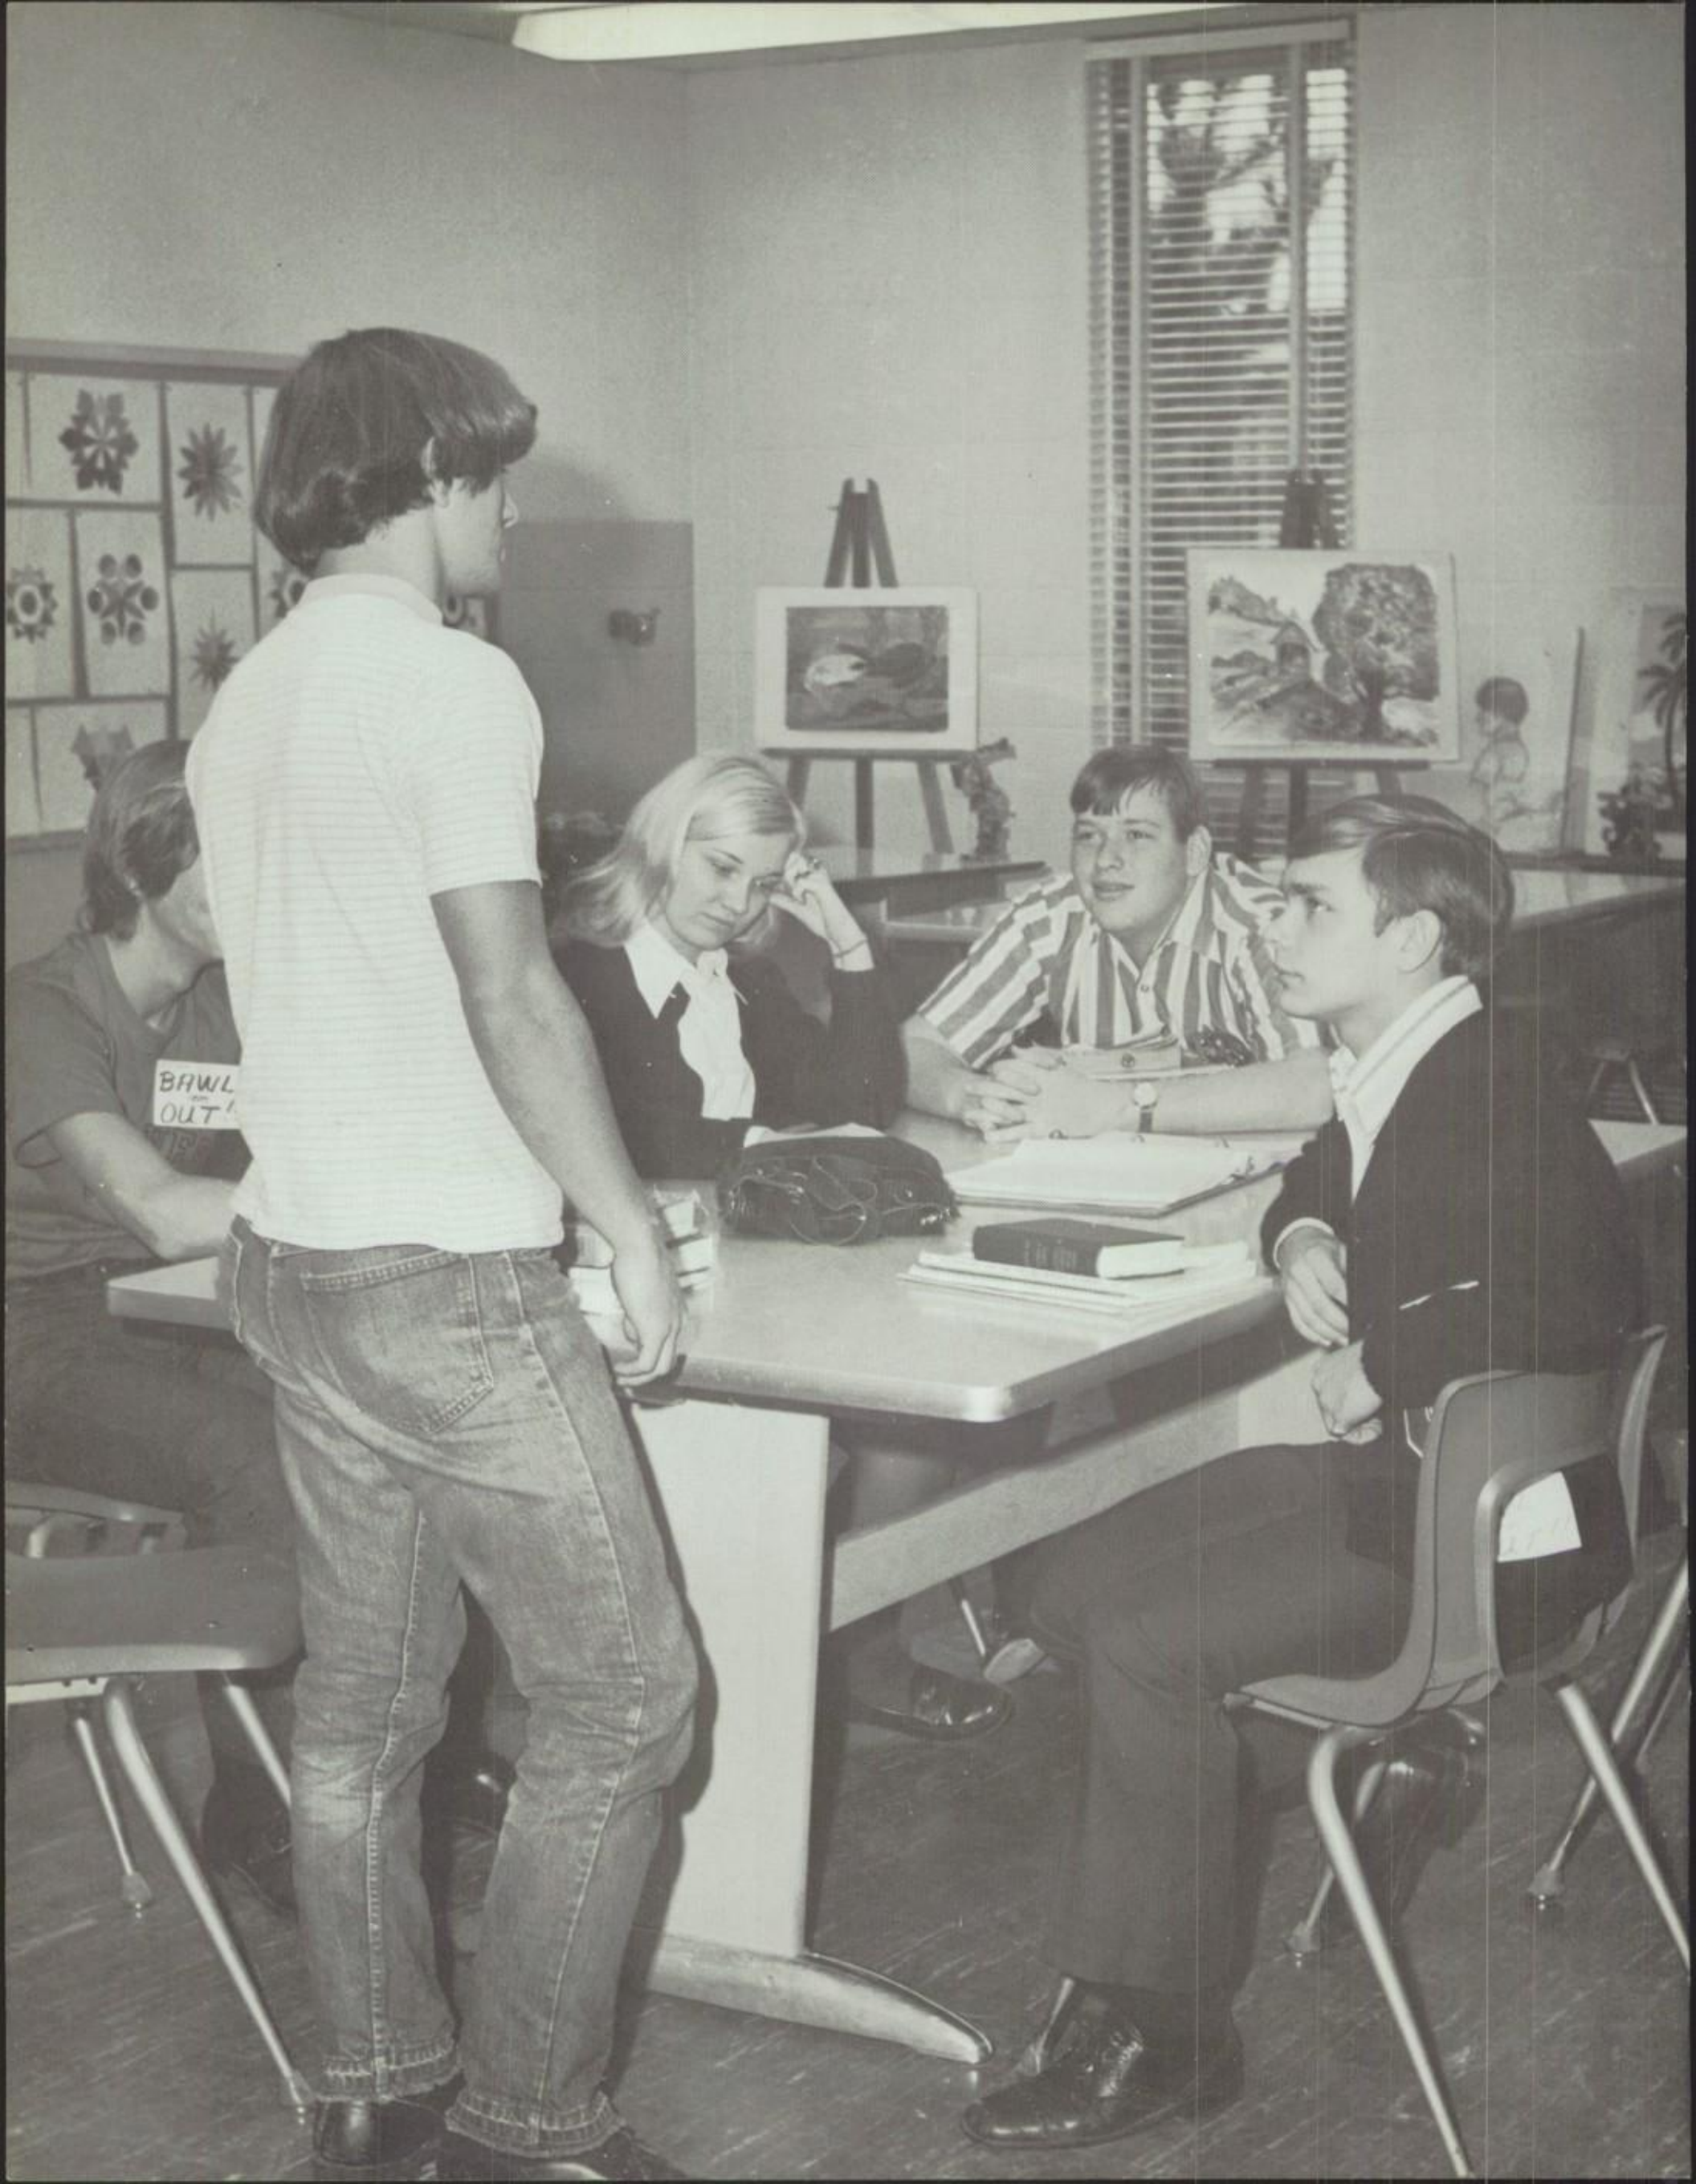

Lynn Tiemeyer places the crown on Kathy Lambring, the new reigning basketball Homecoming Queen.

Homecoming Queen and court were Leah Meahl, Jeanne Reid, Peg Perry, Kathy Lambring, Queen, Karen Weesner, Debbie Wolka, Linda Spurgeon. Escorts were Jeff Blair, Gilbert VanWinkle, Harry Beaty, Lynn Tiemeyer, Bob Fee, Tony Fields, Glenn Durham. Carrie Rogers and Brad Gambrel were junior escorts.

During the year the Marching Braves have participated in the Memorial Day, Watermelon Festival, Fort Vallonia Day, and Brownstown Christmas parades in addition to providing football half-time shows. This year the band also participated in "I.U. Band Day."

"Fight, fight, Central—fight, fight, fight!" is a phrase heard from Booster Club, the largest organization at BCHS.

In addition to supporting the teams, the goal of the club was to give the girls' and boys' cheer blocks an up-to-date look. The girls wore red and black scarfs and white shirts and the boys, red T-shirts displaying the name "Braves".

A spirit stick was given to either the boys or girls, depending on which showed more spirit at games. Another was awarded to the class showing strongest team support.

Officers were Mark Wright, president; John Morgan, vice-president; Sandy Kloppenburg, secretary; and Joyce Teulker, treasurer.

The sponsor, Mr. David Roessler, helped keep the club the spirited organization that it should be.

Heading the "team backers" are Sandy Kloppenburg, John Morgan, Mark Wright, and Joyce Teulker.

Competition between the boys' and girls' cheer blocks instills a sense of spirit in the team.

Choir Has Large Membership

Sixth period and activity period choir officers for 1971-72 were the following: Cathy Duncan, sec.; Doug Lee, pres.; Moni Moenning, treas.; Dianna Baughman, sec.; Shery Skelton, vice-pres.; Warren Anderson, pres.; and Marsha Hollin, treas.

Music is born into many persons. If the participation of students in high school choir is any indication of that birth, one-fourth of the B.C. '71-72 populace could have been said to be "musical."

High school choir, a combination of activity period and sixth period choirs, presents Christmas and spring concerts and participates in baccalaureate services and vocal contests. A choral highlight of the year was the presentation of the musical Hello Dolly, directed by Mr. Herbert Perry, music instructor.

A select group of choir members chosen by Mr. Perry were in "Swing Choir." They performed by request at convocations and various community affairs. These students worked diligently each Tuesday night to rehearse for performances.

Club Is Career Orientated

Joyce Teulker, president of Commercial Club, takes dictation from one of several dictating machines.

The purpose of the Commercial Club is to acquaint students with office situations. The creed of the club is "We, the members of Commercial Club . . . in order to form a more perfect club, are trying to develop the following traits: Courtesy, Dependability, Efficiency, and Neatness."

Occasionally at monthly meetings guest speakers from different offices come to speak to the girls about office procedures and what it takes to get an office job and keep it.

The only requirement for joining Commercial Club is that one be a junior or senior in high school and have a business major or minor.

In the spring the club takes a field trip to view different office situations. The sponsor for the BCHS commercial club is Mrs. Dorothy McCrary.

FTA Builds Future Teachers

Future Teachers of America at BCHS is a relatively young organization. Begun three years ago by sponsors Mr. Orville Lubker and Mr. Andrew Houston, the group was designed to acquaint students with the procedures and responsibilities of the teaching profession. The only requirement for membership is that one be a senior with a teaching career in mind.

The club was headed by Janice Martindale, president; Jo Gail Wessel, vice-president; and Janet Martin, secretary.

The members of the FTA had high hopes of making the club more active. To do this they invited guest speakers to their meetings, observed classroom procedures at the elementary school and high school, and helped in the guidance department. They also took a field trip to observe teaching procedures in various schools.

Janice Martindale, FTA president, gets pointers for a teaching career in Mr. Ferguson's fifth grade class.

President, Vernon Stuckwish, Mr. Smith, and Loren Rueter thumb through the FFA scrapbook.

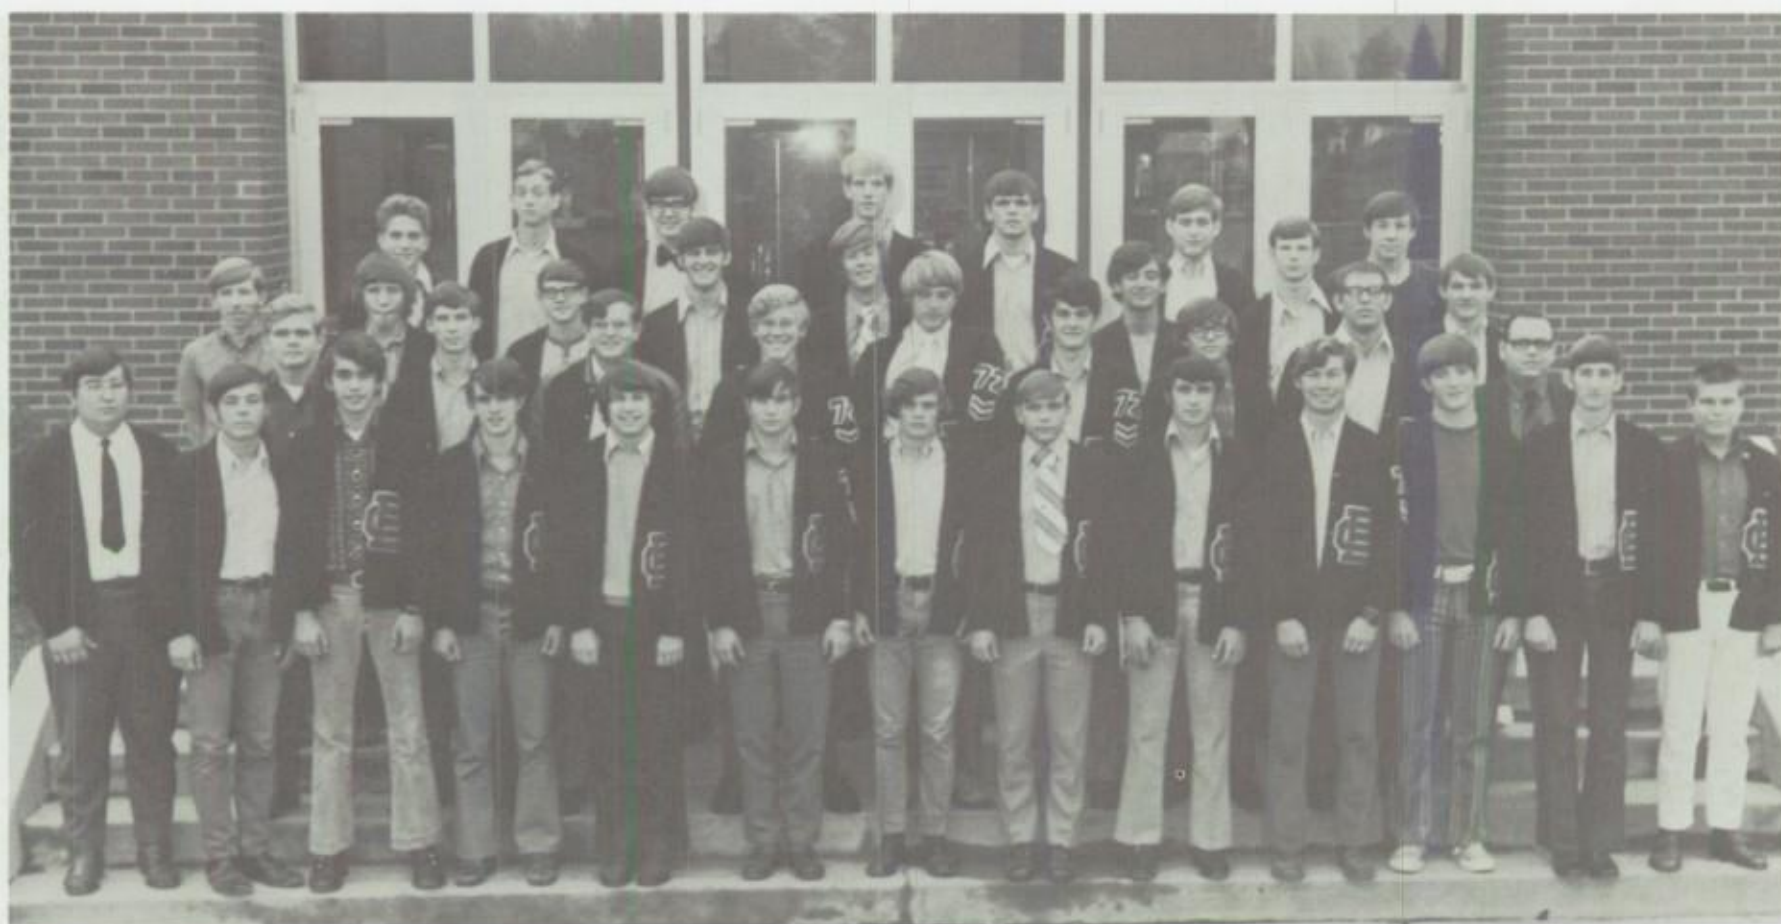

The purpose of FFA is the development of agricultural leadership, co-operation, and citizenship. The motto is: "Learning to do. Doing to learn. Earning to live. Living to serve."

A member of the Future Farmers of America must be interested in agricultural work, be enrolled in a vocational agriculture course, and have satisfactory and acceptable plans for a supervised agricultural experience program.

The year was highlighted by judging and demonstration contests. The officers of the chapter attended the National FFA convention where they received the National Silver Emblem Award.

The FFA "superheads" are Mr. Robert Myers and Mr. Jay Smith, who supervise meetings, attend conventions and help make possible the good showing made by the BCHS chapter.

The Brownstown Central High School Lettermen's Club is composed of boys who have received at least one letter in any of the BCHS varsity sports.

The organization is sponsored by Mr. Larry Johnson and has regular meetings once a month.

The club was formed to honor all letter winners at Brownstown Central and to lift the feeling of sportsmanship among the boys. The BCHS Lettermen's Club is also responsible for the letters, jackets and chevrons received by the boys. Windbreakers were also ordered through the club for lettering seniors.

At all home basketball and football games the BC Lettermen can be found in the parking lot directing cars. This is done to raise money for the boys to order the items they buy for the new letter winners.

Officers of Lettermens' Club were H. Rochner, sec.; D. Sherrill, pres.; R. Bowers, sgt. at arms; J. Morgan, vice-pres; D. Meahl, treas.

Tee Pee Times Relate Events

Jane Redicker, Editor-in-Chief, delivers "fresh off the press" newspapers to the teachers' mailboxes.

If the newspaper office were a real teepee, one might have noticed smoke pouring out as the staff worked together composing its next issue of the school paper. The staff jobs ranged from interviewing, to typing, to making out layouts.

The chief of staff was Jane Redicker, with Julie Lawson as assistant editor and Denise Zike as managing editor. The staff had fifteen members with Mr. Isaacs as sponsor. During October, staff members attended sessions at the Indiana High School Press Association Convention to obtain suggestions for a better school newspaper.

Their purposes for printing the paper were to inform the students of the happenings of school, to provide topics of interest, and to give staff members a concept of journalism.

Science Coat Check Profitable

As science is an infinite field, the BC Science Club expands each year trying to meet the demands of tomorrow. With experiments, projects, and outside speakers at the monthly meetings, the club learns more about various scientific professions.

In March, the Science Club sponsored the Science Fair. This annual occasion attracted outsiders who viewed numerous projects entered by the students. Total enrollment for this year's club was 55 members with Mr. Lynn Hinnefeld as sponsor. The group leaders were Greg Brown, president; Bill Goss, vice-president; Deb Wolka, secretary; Brenda Schneider, treasurer; and Janet Martin, reporter.

The Science Club has various field trips each year and earns money from dues and from operating the coat check at all of the home basketball games.

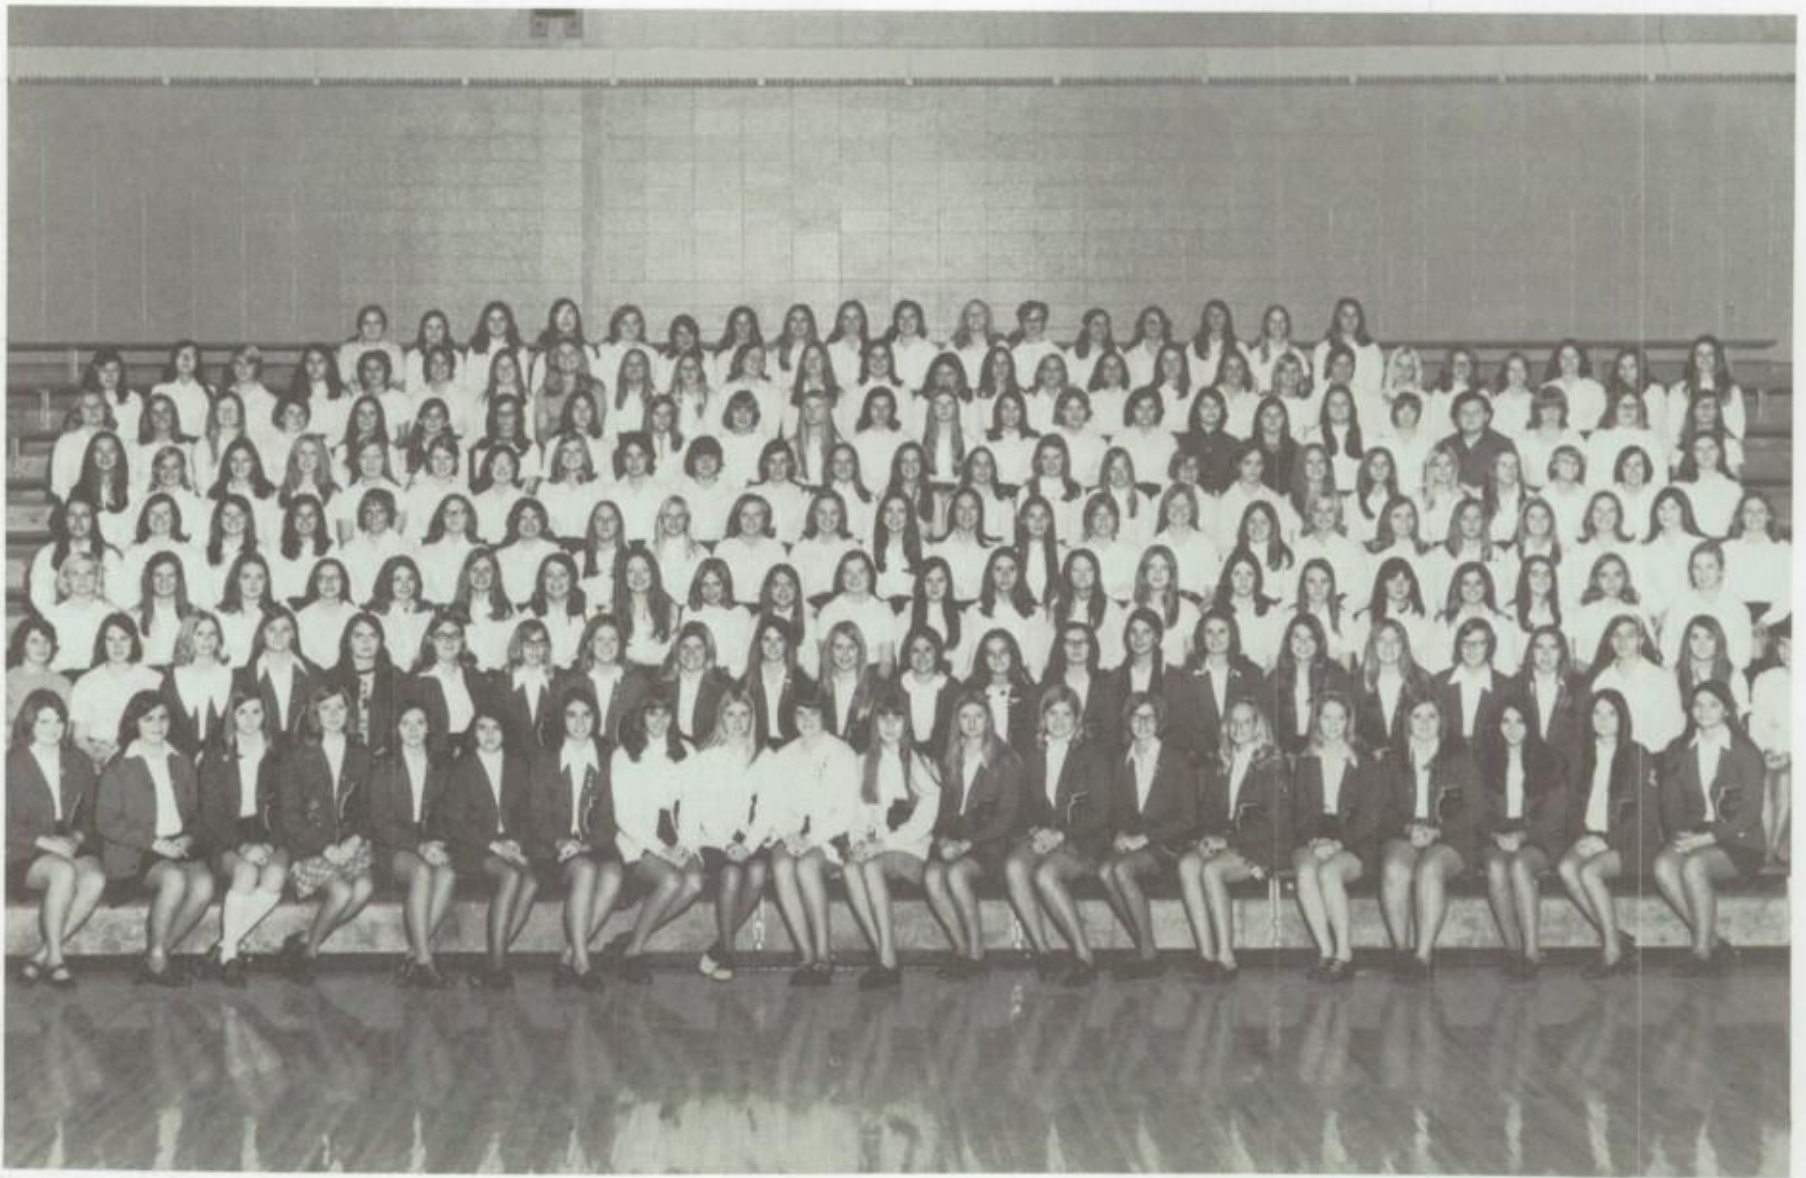

Planning monthly meetings and assisting working committees are duties of the Science Club officers.

A gym full of screaming, yelling girls is the scene many a Monday evening when the members of the Girls' Athletic Association release pent-up energy which has been building during the week.

The purpose of GAA is to promote physical fitness and sportsmanship and provide fun. A wide range of activities; such as bowling, kickball, volleyball, apparatus, tumbling, and softball are played throughout the season.

Highlighting this year was the annual Christmas Dance, entitled "Winter Wonderland of Love." Furnishing the music was "Siddhartha."

Sponsoring dances is the source of income for the club. GAA uses this money to buy plaques, charms, letters, and pins distributed on Award's Night in the spring.

Faculty supervisors were Mrs. Marsha Thompson and Miss Rita Curtis.

Jockeying for positions, these GAA girls await to board the bus which will be in route to the bowling alley.

Working diligently on the punch table are seniors Peggy Perry, Brenda Wischmeier, and Janet Steinkamp.

National Honor Society is an honorary club for juniors and seniors who have maintained a B+C or better average for 3 consecutive semesters. Leadership and character are important factors for the selection of students.

This year 29 students, 15 seniors who are second year members and 14 juniors, qualified for this club.

The sponsor of the club was Mr. John Stuckwisch. The club's leadership was delegated to JoAnn Spray, president; Janet Martin, vice-president; Deb Wolka, secretary; and Amy Mitchell, treasurer.

The Club sponsored the College Bowl, presented the Outstanding Freshman Award to the most improved freshman in leadership and scholarship, and presented each senior member with a plaque for his high school achievements.

Journalistic Work Complied

The Quill and Scroll national honorary society was created for those students who have shown outstanding ability in journalism.

National members must be either a junior or senior, be in the upper third of the class, and be on a school publication. Students who meet all but the first requirements are honorary members.

Leading the group this year were Julie Lawson, president; JoAnn Spray, vice-president; Denise Zike, secretary; Shery Skelton, treasurer; and Linda Cunningham, reporter. Sponsoring the group was Mrs. Loretta Butt.

The activities of the group for the year were a field trip and the publishing of "The Arrow", a pamphlet of poems and short stories.

During convocation in the spring, honorary members were presented certificates and national members were presented pins.

Central Hi-Y Strives to Build

Pausing for a moment of prayer as at every meeting, these Hi-Y members are led by president Terry Grider.

Rick Stilwell is reciting virtues to be followed by new members in a candlelight initiation.

Many young people develop a Christian attitude in their churchwork, but to help sustain this attitude throughout their school lives, Brownstown Central High School offers Hi-Y to high school boys who wish to participate. The underlying theme of the organization is "... to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

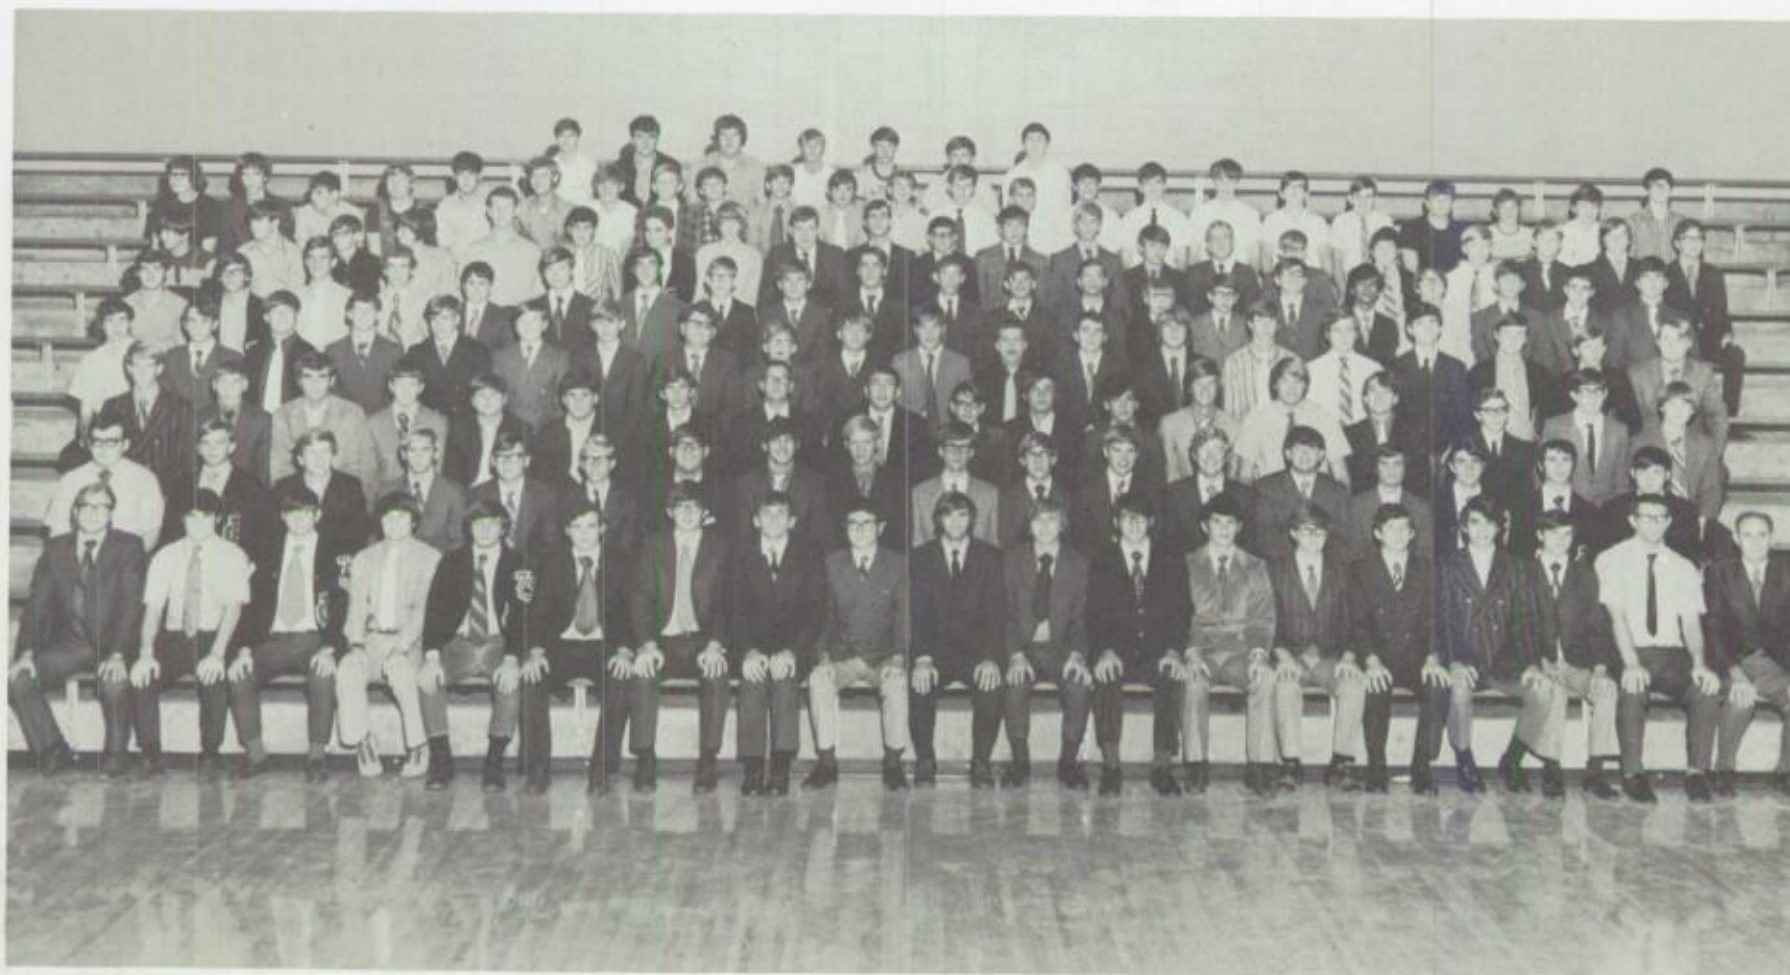

Members of the organization took part in many activities. They initiated new members, dressed up a clown for the community Christmas parade, and sponsored the "Hi-Y Sweetheart Dance" in the spring.

At monthly meetings community leaders, such as local ministers and law enforcers, were featured guests. Leading the club as faculty sponsors were Mr. Gerl Furr, Mr. Robert Smith, and Mr. Alan Rogers.

Serving this year's Hi-Y were the officers Rick Stilwell, Jerry Autry, Terry Grider, Jack Terrell, and Steve Robison, all seniors. Not pictured is Loren Rueter.

Hard Work Supports Library

Assisting Mrs. Sewell, a duty of club members, Kathy Disque checks out books to two sophomore boys.

Students who enjoy helping others, who love books, and who don't mind a little work, get together in Librarian's Club. This helps to arouse an interest in library work as a career. The club isn't restricted to girls but they do make up the main part of the membership.

Members help Mrs. Sewell, head librarian, to check out books, sign passes, and help to keep books and magazines in order. Each person works at some time or other during activity period or one of their study halls and is required to keep a particular section of books in order.

Meetings are held during the third week of each month. This year's club had a membership of fifty-four and office holders were Kathy Disque, president; Janice Robertson, vice-president; Roseann Scoggins, secretary; Alietha Silence, treasurer; and Becky Hall, Debbie Gutting, and Teresa Norman, recreation.

FHA is a national organization formed for high school girls enrolled in a home economics course. It was established to help them learn, discuss, and plan things which may be helpful in future years.

One of their annual projects this year was National FHA Week. The girls participated in this event baking cookies for the teachers, decorating the showcase, and supplying the cafeteria with table centerpieces.

Besides the FHA Week, other activities for the year were a field trip to a day care center at Columbus and an evening of caroling just before Christmas.

The group is sponsored by Mrs. Harrison and this year's leaders were Judy Rieckers, president; Janice Robertson, vice-president; Brenda Wischmeier, secretary; and Peggy Perry, treasurer.

Mrs. Moenich, sponsor, and Jill Wells, president, discuss the itinerary for the trip to Mexico.

A highlight of the year for many of the Spanish Club members was a nine day trip to Mexico City which included a visit to a bullfight and a trip to view Aztec ruins.

"Dime con quein anas ye te dire quien eres: tell me who your friends are and I will tell you who you are." This statement of Cervantes', a 16th century Spanish author, is the motto of the club. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Joyce Moenich, is open to any student enrolled in Spanish.

Early in the year a day was set aside for initiation. On initiation, each "slave" had to do the tasks for his master. At the actual initiation, the food and excitement made up for the hardships of the day.

The club also had the spring Spanish Banquet. Members and families enjoyed the Spanish food and scenery.

Boys with blue ribbons in their hair! Girls wearing bobby socks and high heels? It was the Brownstown Central Latin Club initiates on initiation day, and everyone was wearing signs that declared "Servus Sum (I Am A Slave)!"

In the spring they held the annual banquet. Members brought their parents to dine with them and be entertained with lively skits and vocal selections. Members of the Latin Club also attended the State Junior Classical League Convention at Indiana University in Bloomington.

Mrs. Grace Judd is the Latin Club sponsor. Once a month the club held a meeting in which business was discussed, songs were sung in Latin, and mythical skits were presented by the individual classes.

All these activities are evidence to the fact that Latin lives today at BCHS.

These eight Latin Club students made up the cast for one of the several activity period plays.

The Brownstown Central Student Council is a group of students elected by their classmates to be their representatives in all school affairs. Requirements for eligibility are that one be a student in good standing with at least a "C" average.

Various projects and activities were carried on by the student council last year. These included Dad's Night during football, Mom's Night during basketball, Veteran's Day convocation, football and basketball homecomings, and the Christmas Cheer program. Members also conduct school elections.

With nineteen members the student council leaders were president, Tony Cockerham; vice-president, Jim Peters; secretary, Denise Zike; and treasurer, David Sherrill. The sponsors for the group were Mr. Dickie Isaacs and Mr. Andrew Houston.

In the fall, the Quiver staff declared October 18-22 "Yearbook Week." To kick off the week the staff presented a convocation with a program of skits, jokes, songs, and information on buying yearbooks.

Set in a "Hee-Haw" decor the highlight of the convocation was "Quiver Man," a clumsy hero who saved the day in every situation.

During "Yearbook Week" staff members competed to sell the most yearbooks. Ironically, Gail Duffy, subscription manager, received the prize, a free subscription to the '72 Quiver.

The staff also sponsored an after game dance and tended the coat check at a basketball game. Even though they were busy with activities, members of the staff spent long hours, writing copy, making layouts, or developing pictures.

To join the staff students with better than average English grades may apply in the spring. This year there were 24 students, freshman through senior, on the staff, headed by Mrs. Molly Ferguson, sponsor, and Debbie Wolka and Linda Cunningham, co-editors.

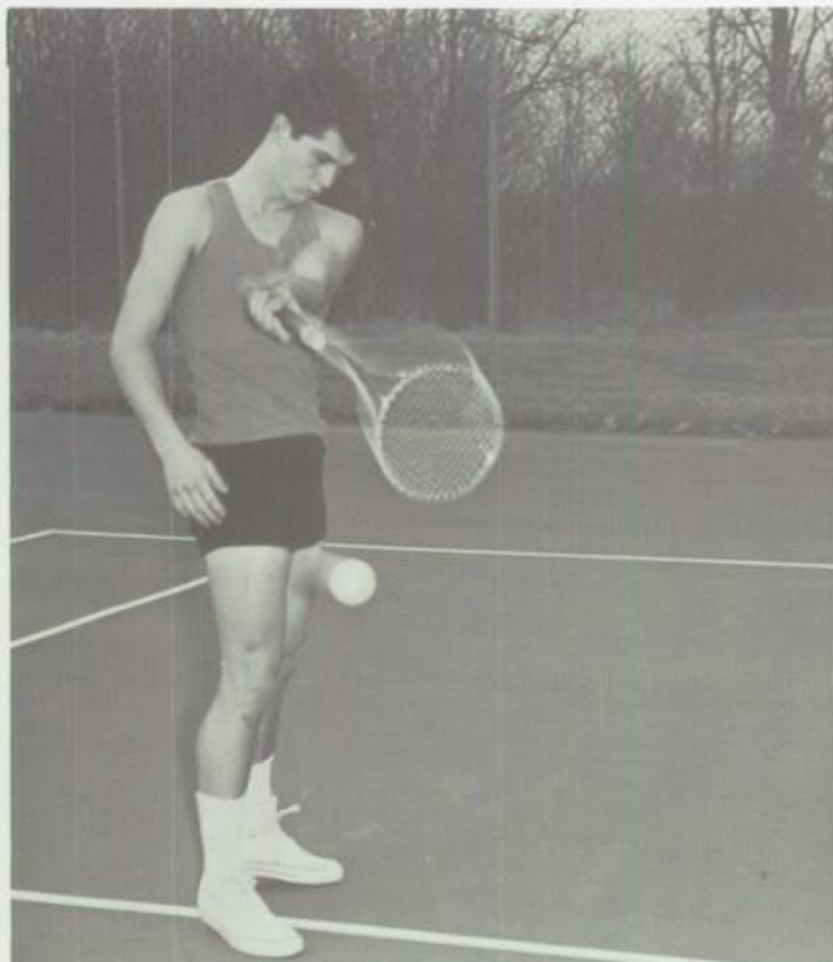

Editors Marianne Turmail, Deb Wolka, and Linda Cunningham close the box and apply the seal for the final shipment.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y" was a chant heard often by the fans of the Brownstown junior high football team. The BCHS junior high team closed the season with a seven win, no loss record.

Completing the season with an average winning margin of 35 points per game, the junior high team had a 37 point offensive average per game and a two point defensive average per game. Mervin Oakes led the scoring with 21 touchdowns, and three extra points for a total of 132 points. Leading the defensive team was Jim Brown who had an average of eight tackles and three assists per game.

Mr. Donald Neal and Mr. Ed Loudon were the coaches for the BC junior high team. According to them the team had good support from parents and the student body at their games.

M. Oakes, D. Warren, and J. Brown gain a few football pointers from Mr. Neal and Mr. Loudon.

The Braves finished the 1971-72 basketball season with a record of 8-12. Despite the team's boasting seven returning lettermen, it was not a winning season. However, several personal and team satisfactions were won. There were thrilling victories as well as tragic defeats.

The middle of the season proved to offer a tough schedule for the varsity Braves. From the game with nearby rival Seymour to the games with Scottsburg, Jennings County, and Floyd Central, Coach Roessler and the boys faced skilled opponents. By losing to these state rated teams by only a few points, the Braves proved they had the ability and determination for victories. However, a few heartbreaking losses such as these kept the team from achieving a winning season.

The season had its highlights, too. The Braves captured the Hoppla Traveling Trophy from Austin in a dramatic overtime and kept it until Southwestern, another school in the Evansville Semistate, handed them a defeat.

Jr. Varsity Achieves Success

The reserve team completed the 1971-72 season with a 13-7 record. The Braves were coached by Mr. Louis Sommers.

In the opening games, the Braves defeated Edinburg, 51-17, and Mitchell, 71-51. They suffered a loss to Corydon, 40-46; Salem, 53-55; and Seymour, 54-64. However, they came back with a victory over Scottsburg, 57-56. Meeting two more defeats, the Braves lost to Jennings Co., 38-79; and Floyd Central, 35-43.

In the reserve tourney, BC was defeated by Jennings Co. in the first game, 52-70, but beat Bedford in the consolation game, 51-46. This sparked an eight game winning streak. They defeated Silver Creek, 47-45; Orleans, 49-39; Brown County, 66-47; and West Washington, 42-37. The Braves also beat Charles-town, 42-33; Austin, 53-43; and Clarksville, 60-56. They suffered a defeat to Southwestern, 48-61, but the Braves bounced back to end the season with two victories, defeating Paoli, 54-39, and Springs Valley, 67-57.

The Brown County reserves are too late to block the jump shot of this Central scorer who gets two more points.

Mr. Gambrel coached the Freshman team this year. With his guidance and many hours of practice, the team gained much experience.

The opening game of the season with Salem netted a 37-33 defeat for the frosh. The next game was a mighty victory over Austin, 63-28. With Columbus North, Shawswick, and Scottsburg, scores for the Braves were 49-57, 69-50, and 52-63, respectively.

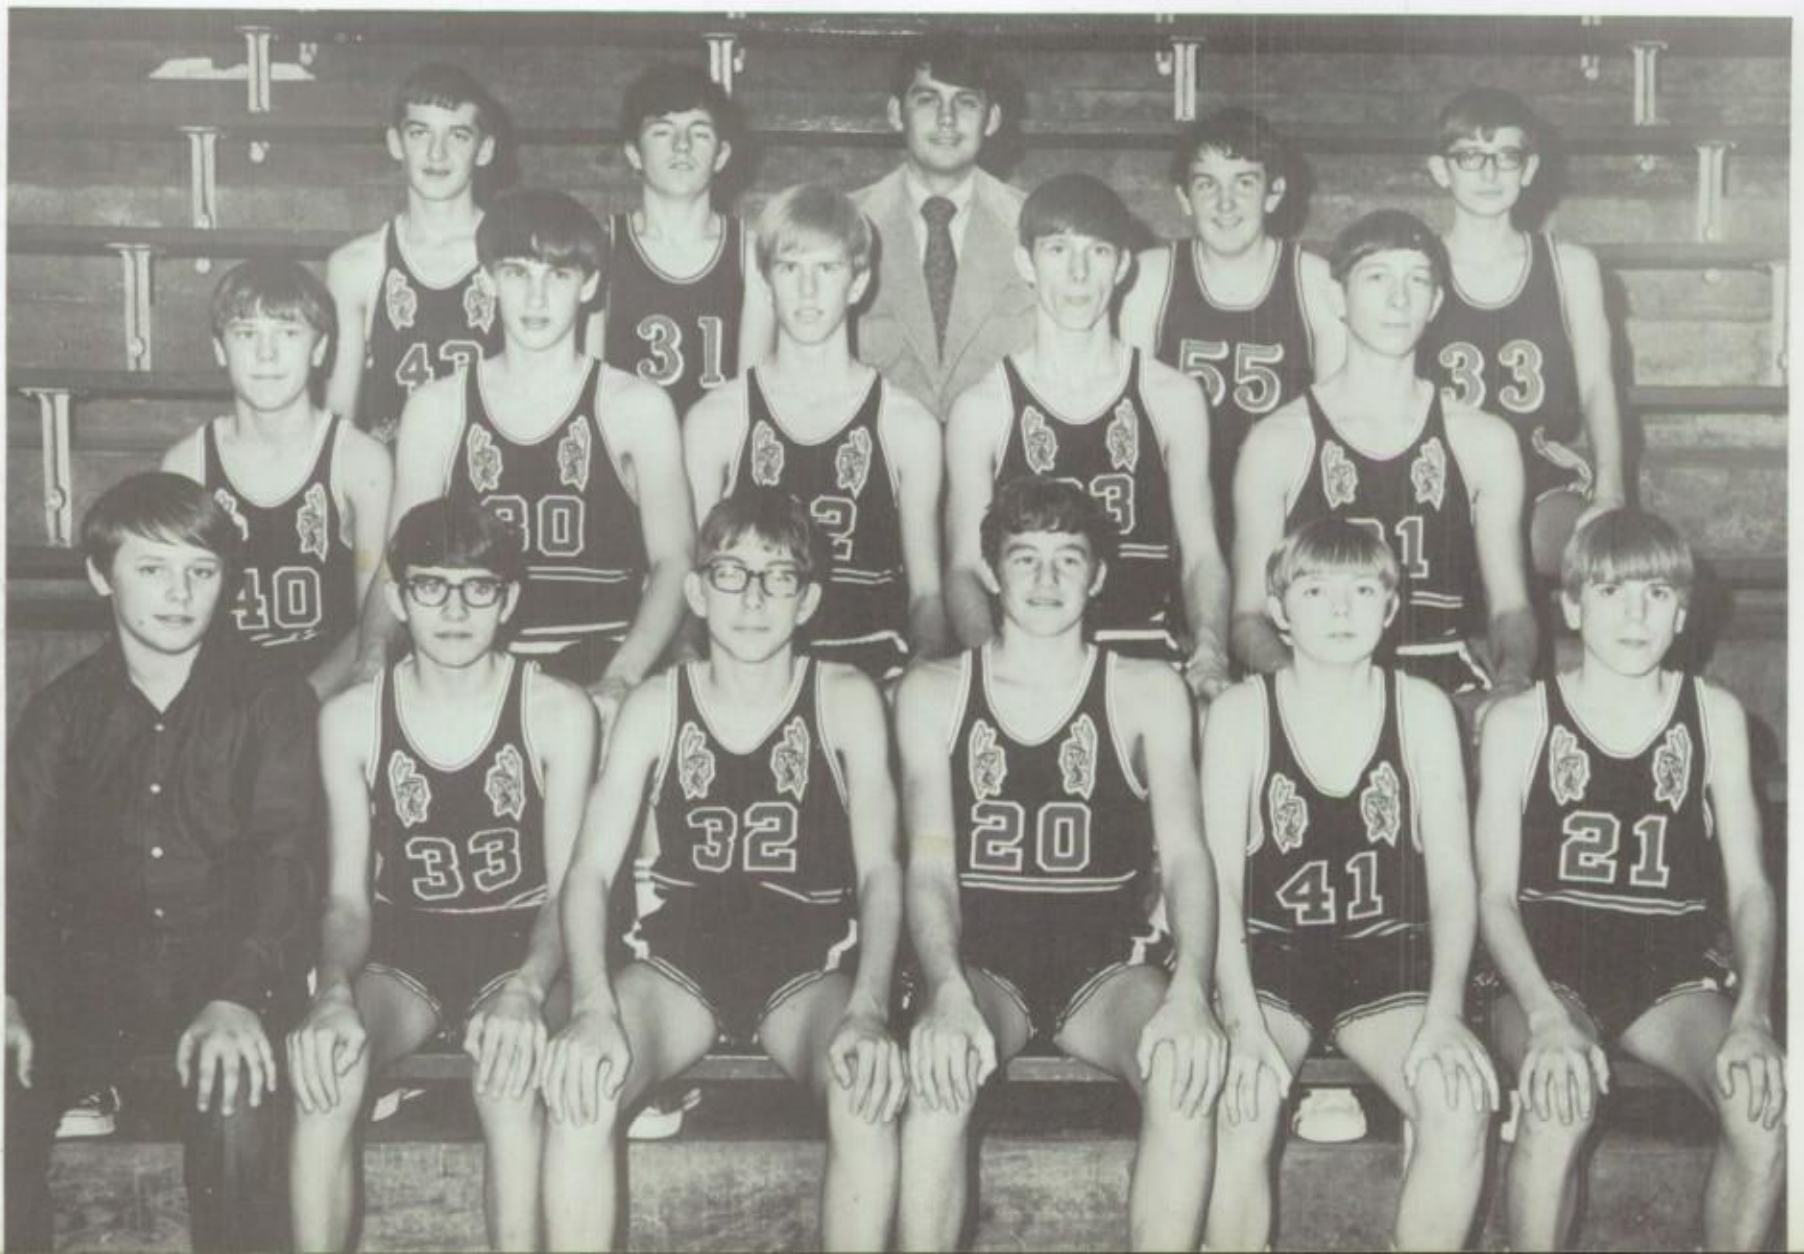

In the tourney, the young Braves met with a disappointing defeat from Springs Valley, but they came back in the consolation game to beat Orleans.

In the Mitchell game, the A team was defeated, but the B team won 29-28. The next two games were taken by Seymour and Scottsburg, but another game against Seymour brought the Braves a victory.

In the last few games the A team won over Corydon, Bedford, and West Washington with several point margins. They were defeated by Jennings County in a close game, 63-68.

The B team played their last four games winning over Jennings County and West Washington, 66-29 and 26-19. They lost to Corydon and Bedford.

Central's future Braves, the 71-72 eighth grade team, proved to be a strong team. Through hours of practice under Coach Schrink, these boys combined skill and effort to achieve a fine record of 12-4.

In the first game, the Braves defeated Mitchell, 53-46. This boosted the team to five more victories, Austin, 49-40; St. Columba, 70-48; Columbus North, 63-55; Shawswick, 60-44; and Scottsburg, 48-43. Seymour broke the winning streak and defeated the Braves once and then later in a separate game. Scottsburg outscored the B team Braves, 43-48, but the A-team won 66-36.

Salem and Bedford were unable to outscore the Braves with scores of 55-40 and 46-24, respectively. The next game with Jennings County gave the Braves a disappointing 4 point loss. A 45-38 victory over West Washington ended the season.

The little Braves became "champs" of the tourney and brought home the trophy by beating Madison 42-40 and Jennings Co. 68-56.

The Brownstown Central High School varsity cindermen excelled to break several school records during track season last spring. Mike Weaver, then a freshman, set a new high school jump record with a 6'0" jump. Breaking the record for 100 yd. dash in 10.3 seconds was Mike Hurley who was graduated in 1971.

Mr. Larry Hinkle, coach, and Mr. Ed Loudon, assistant coach, provided the "know-how" all season. They worked diligently in training the team for the meets.

The highlight of the year was BCHS placing second in the Conference Meet. Mike Hurley finished first in the 100 yd. dash, and Jack Lambert placed first in the 440 yd. dash. Relay team Danny Meahl, Denny Myers, Jack Lambert, and Marvin Peters, brought in a first place in the mile relay.

Jr. Highers Dash For Records

Success was the result of the efforts of the members of the BCHS junior high track team last spring. Along with skill and team work on the part of the boys, and training provided by sponsor Mr. Donald Neal, and co-sponsor, Mr. Stephen Schrink, was an added vehicle to success.

The seventh graders on the team won the Conference Meet and remained undefeated throughout the remainder of the season. All records except the 440 relay and the pole vault were broken. High point man was Mervin Oakes.

The eighth graders on the team finished third in the Conference Meet. David McCrary was high point man and broke the record for the seventy yard hurdles. He and Mike Rice, Jerry McMahon, and Mike Zink set a new record for the 880 yd. relay.

Baseball Braves Fight Back

Getting into the swing of things is Jerry Jackson, trying for a home run as fellow players look on.

The fighting Braves of BCHS ended the baseball season with a 10-9 record. Starting slowly, the team lost the first two games to Jennings County and Clarksville. A win from Medora brightened the outlook for the Centralites.

On the pitching staff were six BCHS boys: Mike Holloway 3-4, pitching 45 $\frac{1}{3}$ innings; Warren Anderson, 2-2, 38 $\frac{1}{3}$ innings; Doug Gorbett, 4-1, 29 $\frac{2}{3}$ innings; Terry Ault, 1/1, 16 innings; and Bill Lockman, 0-1, 3 innings. In addition to these, Nick Duffy had no wins or losses but pitched two innings.

Coaching during the '71 season was Mr. Robert Gambrel, assisted by Mr. David Roessler.

The recipient of the Most Valuable Player award was Bill Lockman, a '71 graduate. Mike Holloway, who was also graduated in 1971, had the most runs batted in. Bill Lockman also won the hitting award with an average of .357.

Hustlin' Harriers Try for Wins

"BANG" and they're off! That's how a cross country meet starts. To run across country the boys must have a lot of stamina and be in good shape. Practice for these boys starts the middle of August and goes through October when their season ends.

BCHS harriers run six to eight miles each day during practice. The actual meet is two miles over hilly terrain. For the first time in four years the BCHS harriers placed in the Mid Southern Conference meet. Although the team placed ninth in the meet, Doug Ault came in third in the freshman division. In cross country, unlike most sports, the winner is determined by the team that has the lowest score.

Heading this year's team is "Coach" Robert Gambrell. He feels that with five experienced men returning a bright future for the team may lie ahead.

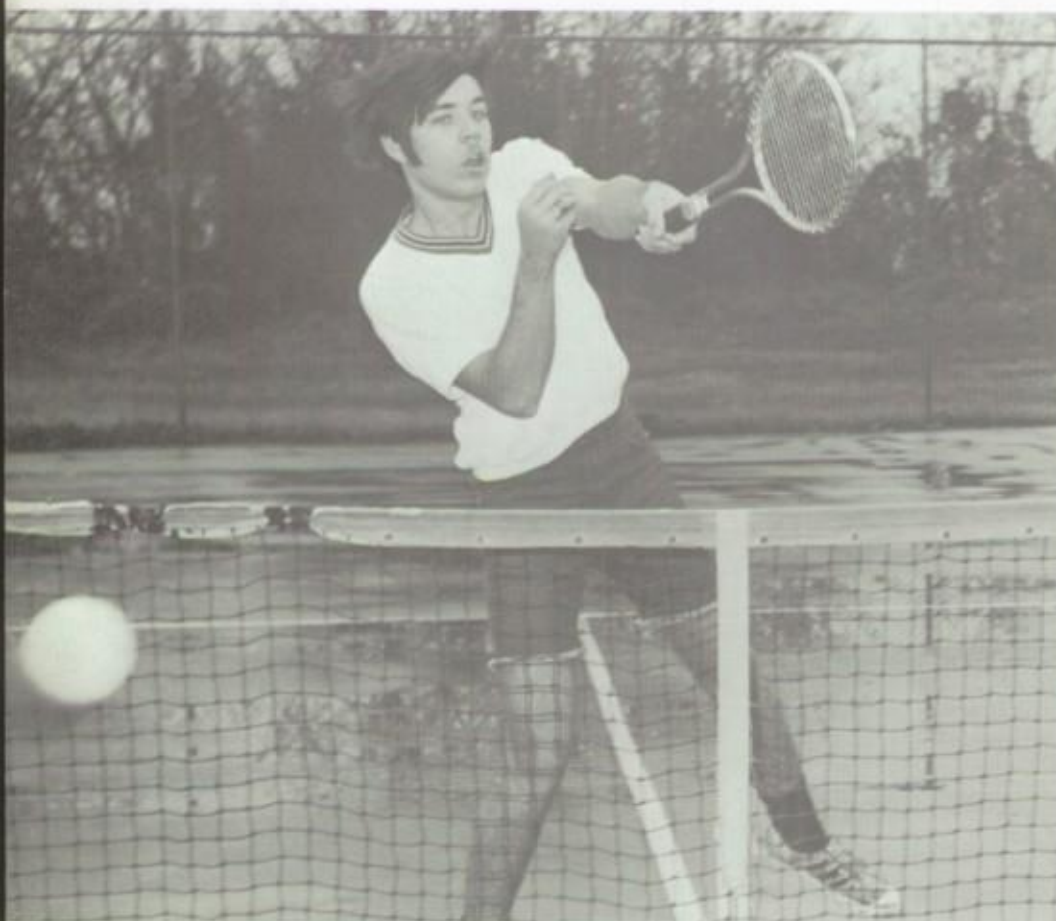

Glen Durham and Jack Lambert put in running time developing endurance for a cross country meet.

Netmen Swing Fourth In Meet

Doing his thing by displaying a powerful forehand stroke is Pat Bahan, a senior member of the tennis team.

Although Brownstown Central's tennis team had its first losing season, they finished fourth in the Conference Meet at New Albany and came in ninth out of sixteen teams in the Columbus sectional.

The team began practicing in mid-August and played their twelve matches and two tournaments during the month of September.

Mr. Andrew Houston, tennis coach, reported that seniors Gene Tabor and Warren Anderson played excellent tennis and did extremely well in both singles and doubles. Gene received Most Valuable Player award.

Senior members of the team were Steve Robison, Gene Tabor, Warren Anderson, Jim Peters, and Pat Bahan. With 65% of the team members graduating, the three remaining underclassmen will have to continue to improve and be joined by other sportsmen interested in tennis.

Big Red Machine Keeps Puttin'

"Fore!" That's how the shortest seasoned sport in school starts. Golf season runs from the first of April through May. Although the season is short the team plays 15 matches, some of them being on Saturday. To win a golf match the team must compile the lowest score instead of the highest.

"Coach" Louis Sommers kept a record of the boys' practice scores and the boy with the lowest score was his No. 1 man for the next meet and played against the No. 1 man from the opposing side. The same was true for the No. 2, 3, 4, and 5 men.

The school furnished the boys with golf balls but the boys had to furnish the rest of their equipment.

The BCHS golf team finished 6th in the conference and 12th in the sectional. John Morgan was selected as the Most Valuable Player.

Using skills learned from four years of experience is vital in this putt being made by John Morgan.

"What goes up, must come down," may be the thought of these intramural players as they wait for the rebound.

Differing from other organizations at BCHS, intramurals has no officers and its members pay no dues. Requirements for membership are that members be boys in high school who do not participate in any winter sport.

The eighty-six members of intramurals, headed by Mr. Larry Hinkle, played basketball games on various Tuesdays and Thursdays throughout the season. Teams were chosen by eight seniors and given a "wild and wacky," but symbolic name. The names of teams for the past year were the following: Cobras, Beaty's Raiders, Super Willies, Hustlers, Getta's Goons, Ginny's Goons, Ramchargers, and Speed Kings.

Intramural teams competed for the championship of the tourney at the end of the season. A game between the senior All Stars and the male faculty followed.

Boosting the spirit of sport fans throughout this past year were seniors, Kathy Disque, captain, and Debbie Fleetwood; juniors, Carol Wischmeier and Marcia Brewer; and sophomore, Bonnie Pottschmidt.

Cheerleading is not all "fun and games." It involves many long hours of practice held after school. The varsity cheerleaders, sponsored by Miss Rita Curtis, introduced many new yells to the students.

Elected in the spring, the girls attended cheerleading camp at Vincennes University. While at camp, the girls competed for the spirit stick. They won a superior rating and were awarded a spirit stick to bring back.

The Frosh yell leaders were Donna Disque, Jeanne Brewer, and Kathy Reid. "Don't give in; this game you've got to win. . ." rang through the gym as 8th grade cheerleaders, Jennifer Gaiter and Diane Sherrill led the students in yells. Critiques, Research Papers Jack Hauer endeavors to make his very first speech before his classmates in Mr. Persinger's 6th period speech class.

The mere mentioning of oral book reports and speeches usually made giant-sized lumps in many stomachs and throats. When the teacher put all the names in a box and drew them out, no one knew when his time would come. When it arrived, he tried so hard to enunciate each word correctly that he lost his place in his note cards! Even hours after the ordeal was over, butterflies still fluttered in many stomachs.

Sometimes students wondered why teachers started two months before the due date telling them how to write a research paper. After finding references, they knew why—the note cards, the bibliography, and the outlines took painstaking hours to complete. When students handed theirs in, the finished products looked nothing like the scribbled mass of words they started with.

Most students in BC English classes have experienced these situations many times and have survived them. The real benefit gained from them will enable pupils to bridge the communication gap in their future years.

Although these English students don't have to buy paperback books as an assignment, many do it for the pleasure of reading.

These juniors, Brenda Kerner, Tony Johnson, and Jill Wells, compose their research papers for English.

Integral Axioms

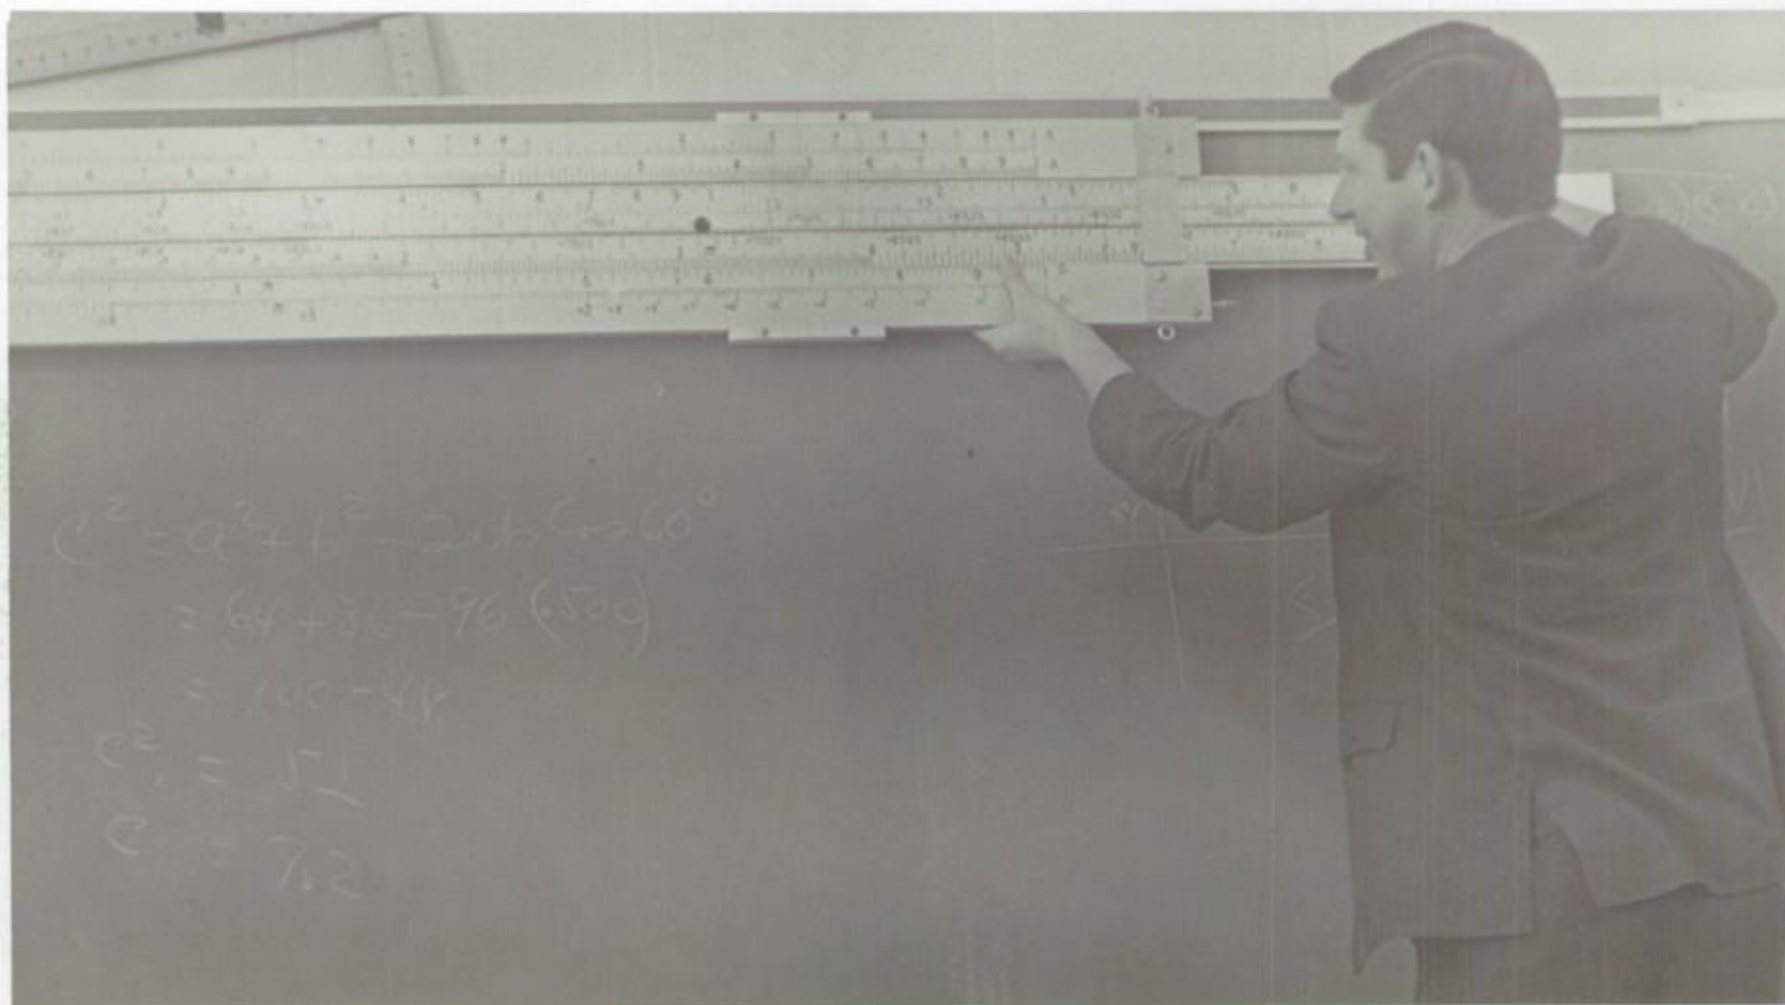

Mr. Stuckwisch demonstrates the procedure of how to find the slope of a line to one of his algebra students.

Infinite sets, subsets, empty sets, disjoint sets--where will it all end? In nearly every math course they study of sets opened the year's discussion of the science of quantities.

In geometry a completely new concept was introduced in the form of three-dimensional qualities. Visualization of an x-y-z representation becomes difficult when it was sketched on a flat plane such as the graph board. But utilization of the walls, corners, and ceilings comprising the room served as an efficient simulation.

Truth tables involving conditionals became increasingly difficult as the negations of certain premises complicated the logic of tautology. Ps and Qs became patterns of thought crisscrossing in many mathematical minds.

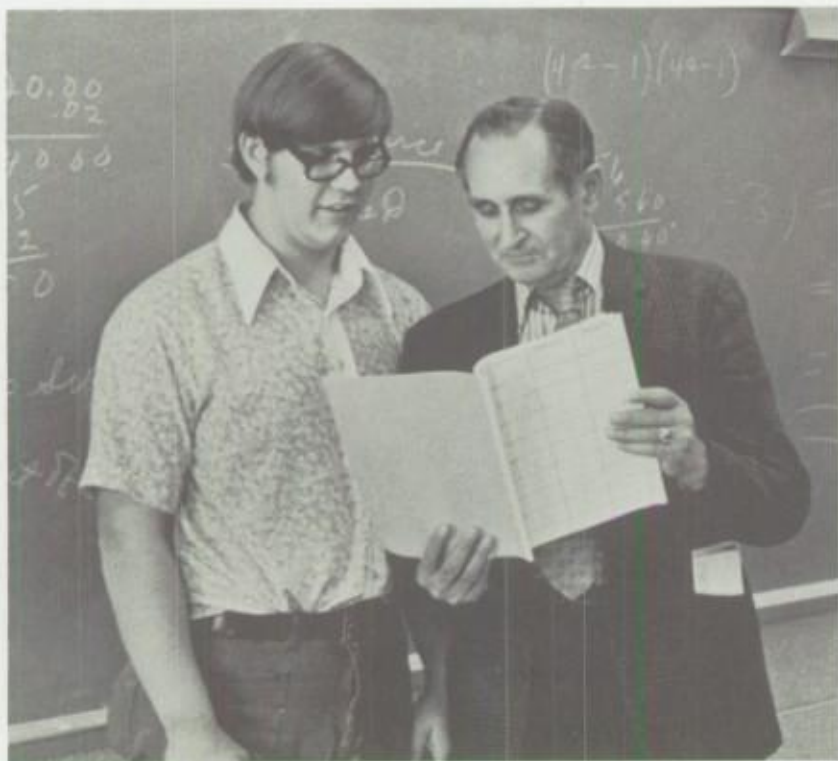

The common factor for all math courses is that every number, real and imaginary, can be represented in a multitude of ways in the various branches of mathematics.

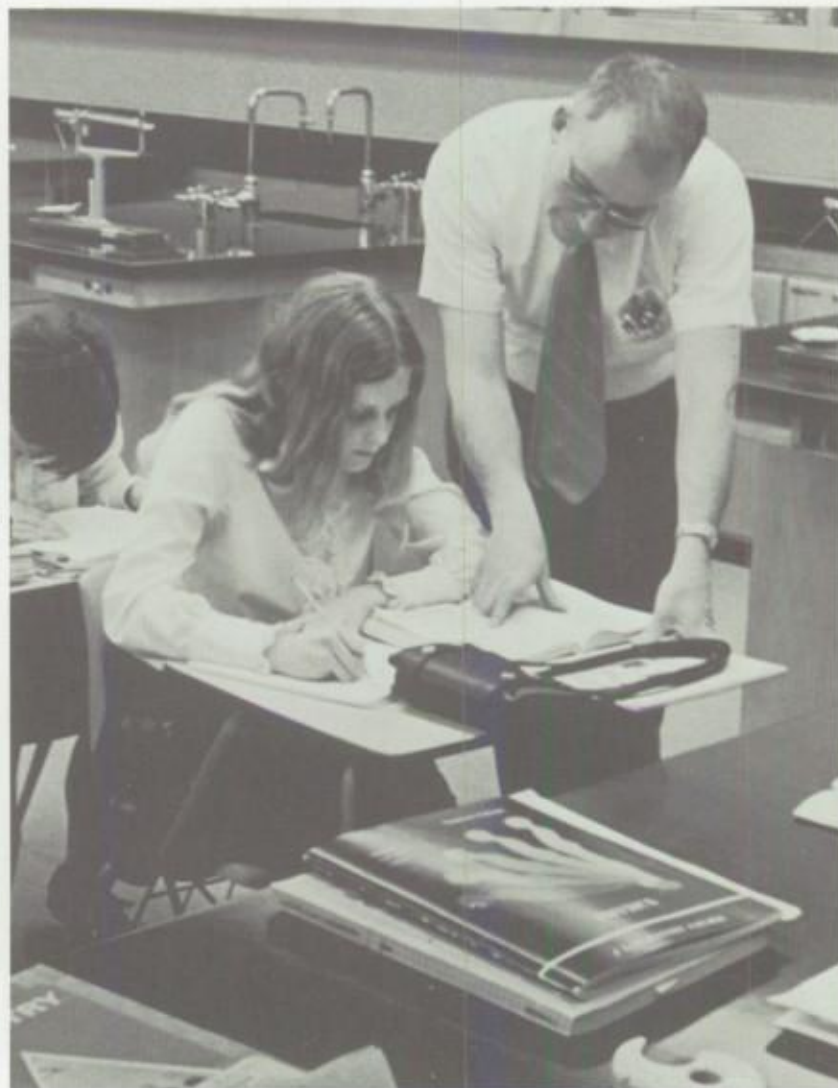

Mr. John H. Stuckwisch struggles with the huge slide rule in Room 100, as he uses the cosine law to solve a triangle in Senior math class. The slide rule becomes useful in multiplying and dividing fractional values of sine, cosine, and tangent functions.

Examining papers of his general math students, Mr. Furr reviews them with his student aid, Kenny Wheeler.

Mr. Snyder assists Kim Sweeney with a math problem. Eighth grade math consists of the integral fundamentals—addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division.

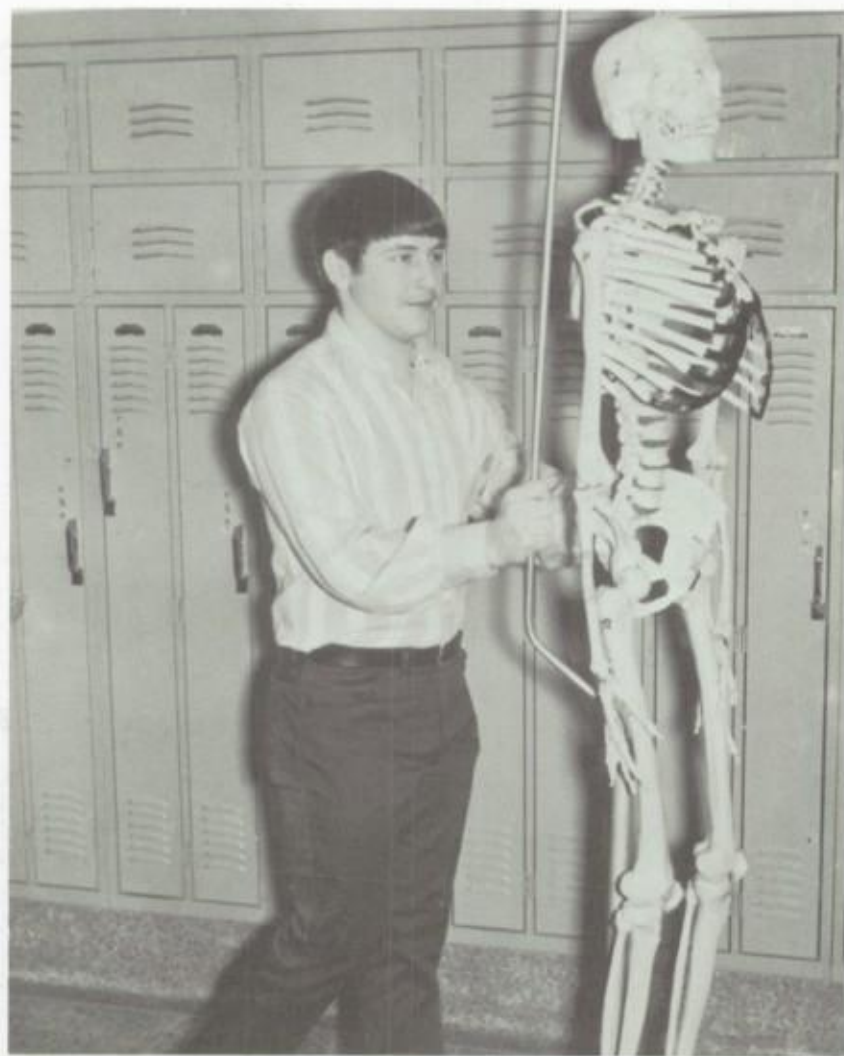

Mr. Isaacs points out a lateral edge of a regular square pyramid to one of his geometry classes. Pyramids, three-dimensional figures, are studied in plane geometry.

Science Studies Are Modernized

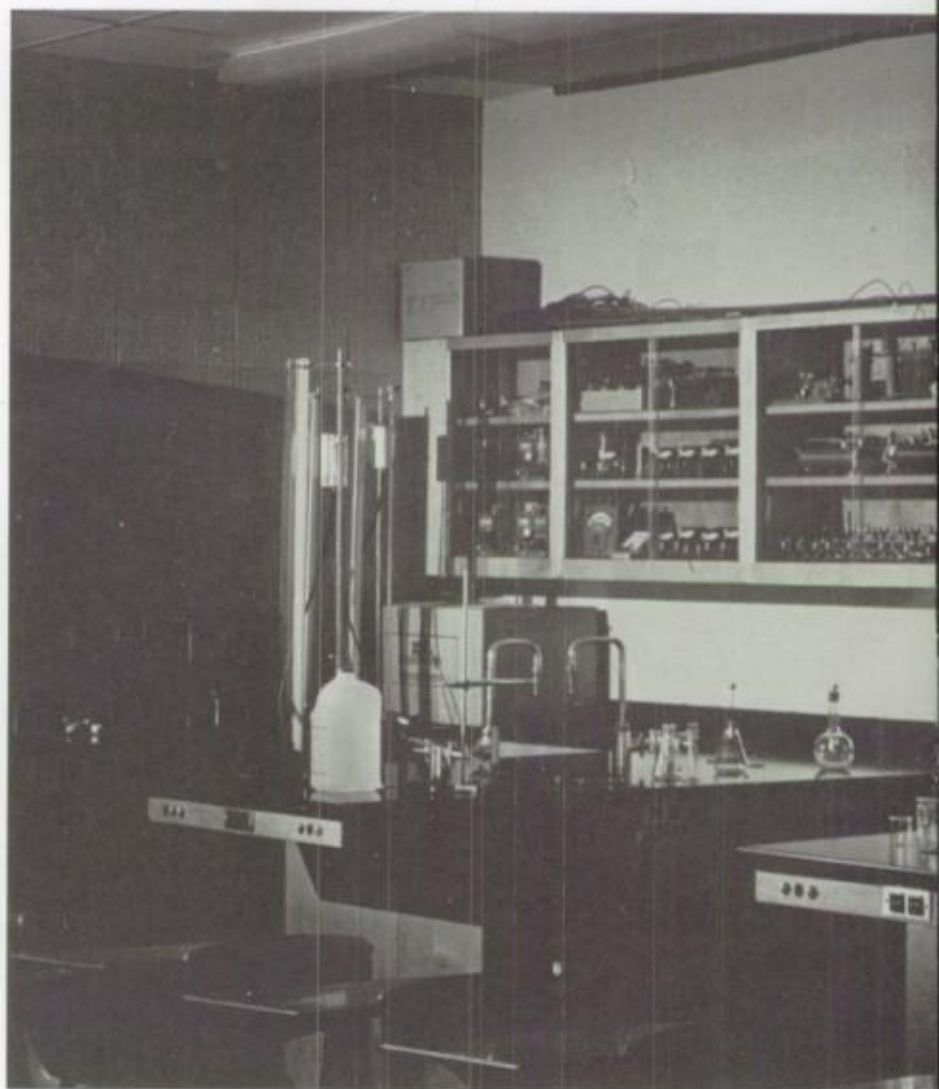

When chemistry students at BCHS learned of John Dalton's atomic theory and compared it to the modern theory, they soon realized that chemistry was a slowly evolving science, the saga of men groping for causes and struggling to frame laws. The results of scientific research should find their way into a textbook, and the recent efforts to improve the teaching of science must be reflected in a course of study. The new textbooks, which the science department of BCHS received this year, provided an effective way of teaching both the methods of science and science as a way of life, by showing how scientists reached their goals and made their contributions. The new books also touched on the lives and achievements of some of the pioneers in science and on the social impact of their discoveries.

Country's Formation Probed

When history students heard the ingenious plans of Hitler and Lenin planning to overthrow the democratic governments of their times, they probably wondered how a country could survive under the burden of communism and socialism. Comparing other governments, they could appreciate the freedoms of our nation more fully.

The relationships of men and their behavior make history. Psychology and sociology classes tried to account for some of man's actions. The power of suggestion proved to be an interesting research. Doubting if minds could make a table rise or yawns could cause a chain reaction, students experimented and found some things could be proved or disputed.

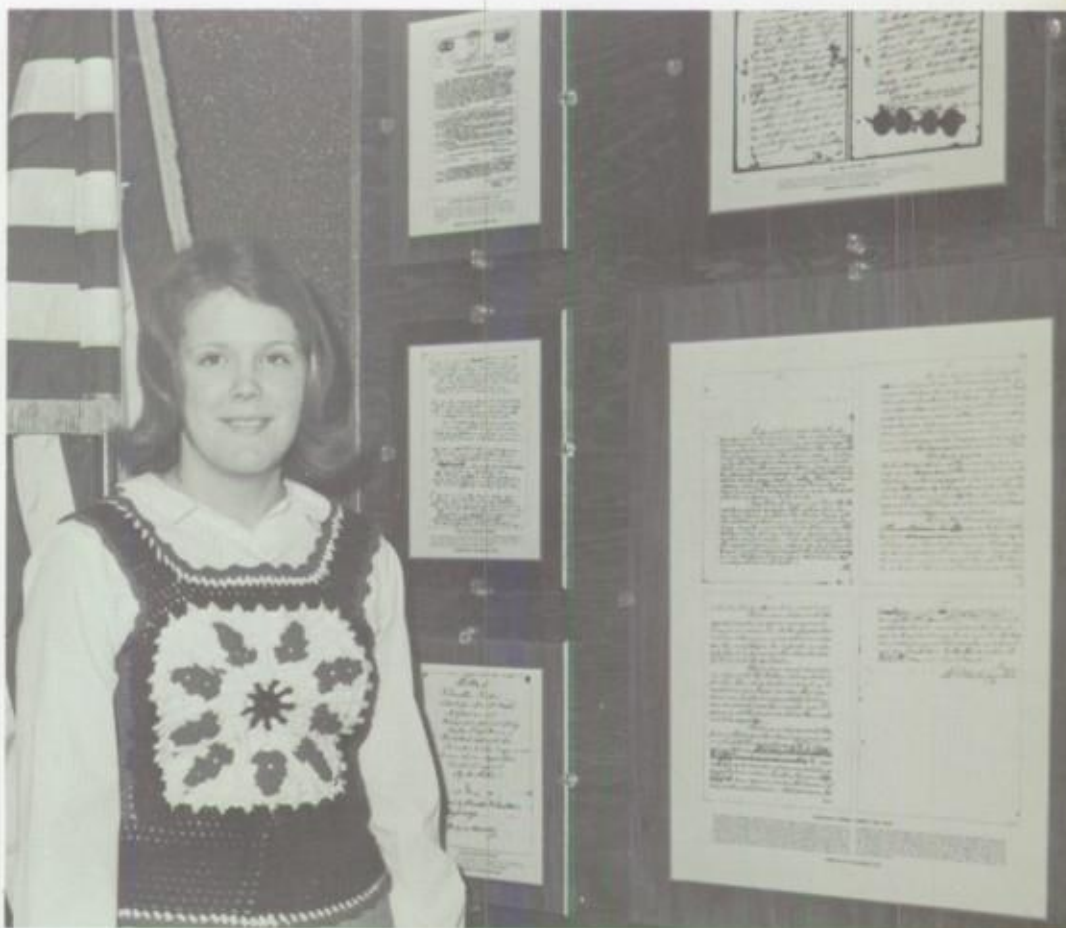

Common knowledge of man and events was enriched and furthered for future history-makers. Social Studies left a trail of the past and laid a foundation for the future.

Freedom, Competition Provided

The monotony of the great classroom struggle of six one-hour periods, as well as the shuffles to and from lunch, marched on nearly every day. Physical education classes became a valve to release built-up stress and strain drawn from studying.

P.E. classes offered freedom to "hang loose" in an informal class setting. Tennis shoes and gym suits became sweat-laden with the effort produced in competition and learning of new skills. One could sometimes detect a phys. ed. student's locker by a stray sock or the faint smell of a near-moldy towel forgotten for a few days.

There is another way of viewing P.E. That viewing points out the feeling one gets after winning a race, passing a test on the horse, or having his basketball team be victorious. In addition to offering freedom, sportsmanship and competition, physical education is the means of helping a student become a physically fit person and an individual with a well-rounded educational background.

As students use various gymnastic apparatus in Advanced P.E., Diana Baughman hangs from the rings and Jo Gail Wessel appears to be suspended in the air.

In the gym, which serves a dual purpose in providing a place for boys' and girls' physical education, Sophomore students display their skills, sometimes seeming to move faster than the speed of the camera.

Girls Prepare for Fulfillment Of Dreams

When many girls were at a tender age, they imitated their mothers by pretending to be homemakers. They cleaned house with their "Suzy Homemaker Set" of mop, broom, and dust pan, and baked cakes and cookies with an "Easy Bake Oven." Not everyone had these items, but with a little imagination, a box became a stove, refrigerator, or even a little "house."

Now that these girls are older they don't have to pretend. Preparing real meals, learning to care for children and to manage a home is done by taking courses in home ec.

These courses might not have brought back memories, but they did teach the fundamentals of future homemaking. Freshmen and Sophomores learned about foods and clothing while Juniors and Seniors were taught housing, family relations, and human development.

Art Posters

Stress Ecology

Since the beginning of time men have been using art to express their feeling and emotions. Even pre-historic man used art in describing his adventures by painting them on the walls of caves.

During the Renaissance, art gained more perspective. Men like Michelangelo and Leonardo da Vinci were some of the great artists of this time who used realism in their paintings.

Some students at Brownstown Central are learning to express themselves through art. Types of art offered at BCHS are sketching, sculpturing, ceramics, clay pottery, linoleum block printing, and painting of all kinds.

During the year, the advanced art students were asked to make posters for various activities. For "Yearbook Week" posters were made to help boost sales; for the Science Fair students made ecology posters.

Using the cutting blade of the art skill saw, Mike Morgan carves a section of wood for a wood project.

Activities Build To Fortissimo

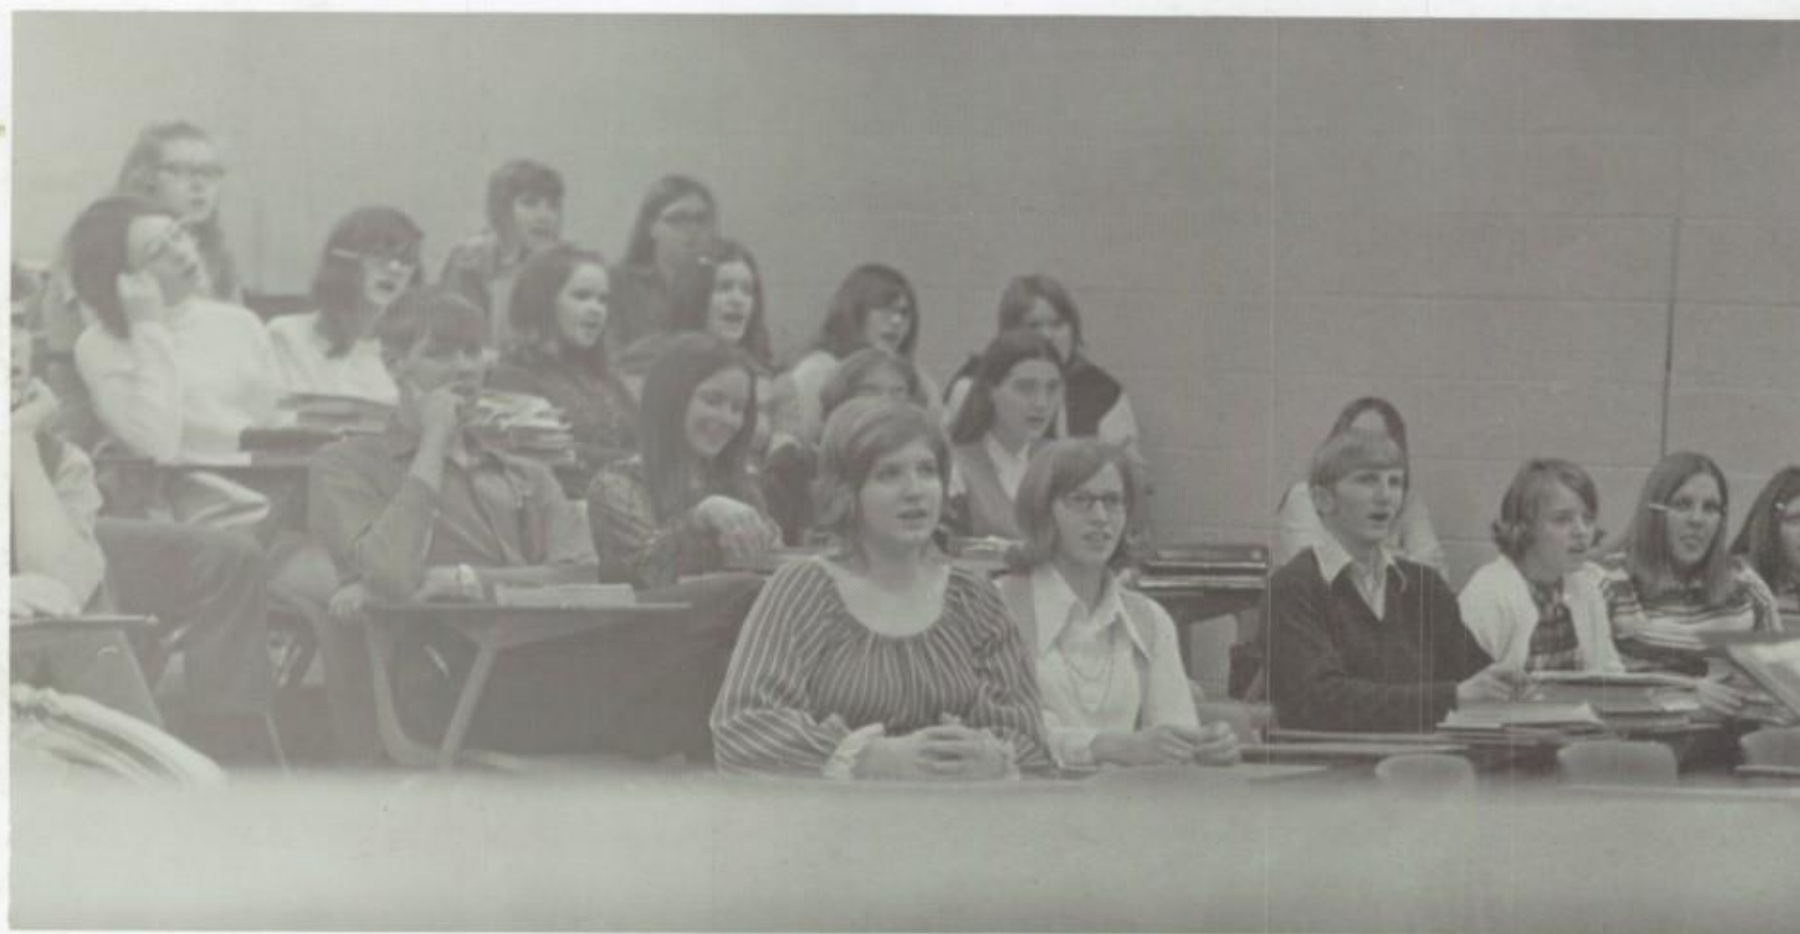

Similar to the transitions which took place in art, music experienced a change from polyphonic to classical, romantic, and finally modern sounds.

In band and choir at BC, students are exposed to music from the serenity of the chorales of Bach, to the dissonance of Claude Debussy, and the modern rhythmical structure of Burt Bacharach.

The bands at Central meet 3rd and 6th periods and practice for football shows, concerts, and regional ensemble contests.

A highlight of the '70-71 year was the presentation of Bart's musical production, "Oliver." Presented in March, parents and friends flocked to see the cast chosen from the activity period and 6th period choirs as they portrayed characters from pitiful Oliver to sly Fagan, and "true blue" Nancy.

Fagan (Gene Tabor), the head pickpocket, teaches Oliver (Tom Kieffer), the fundamentals of pocket-picking as other cast members look on.

These students in sixth period choir begin to sing without the aid of their music in preparation for the upcoming choir concert. Repetition of songs makes memorization of words and music easier.

Running wood through the planer to eliminate rough spots, these shop boys prepare wood to begin their projects.

Mr. Duffy explains two-point perspective to Tom Gray as Janice Martindale and Jim Peters prepare to complete lettering on their plates in mechanical drawing class.

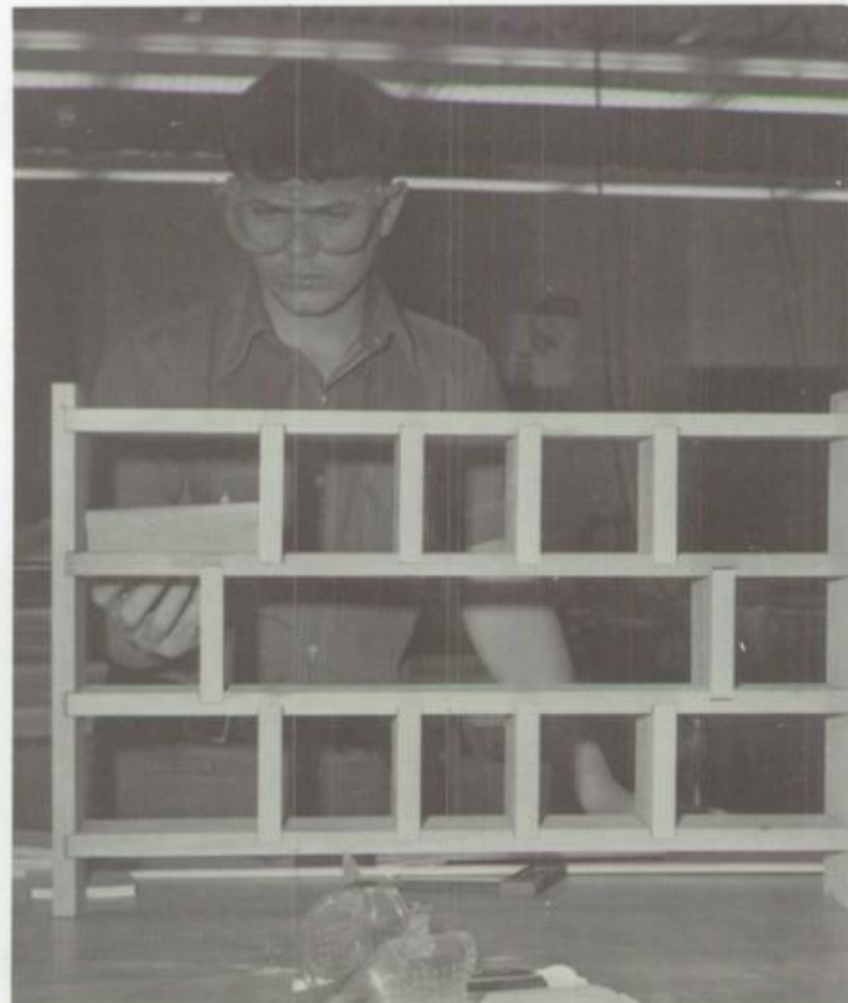

Industrial Techniques Learned

From the preliminary blueprints drafted at the drawing board to the finished products created by human hands, architecture and engineering provide man with new looks and new innovations. At Brownstown Central, mechanical drawing students are beginning a long period of training through which they may be tomorrow's planners of the world.

A printer learns to live with stained fingernails and grimy hands. The satisfaction of typesetting, setting up, leading, and running the press to achieve the finished product are steps made by boys in printing class.

The general shop classes, comprised of seventh graders through sophomores, learn the basic fundamentals of construction in wood shop and metal shop and do maintenance work throughout the school.

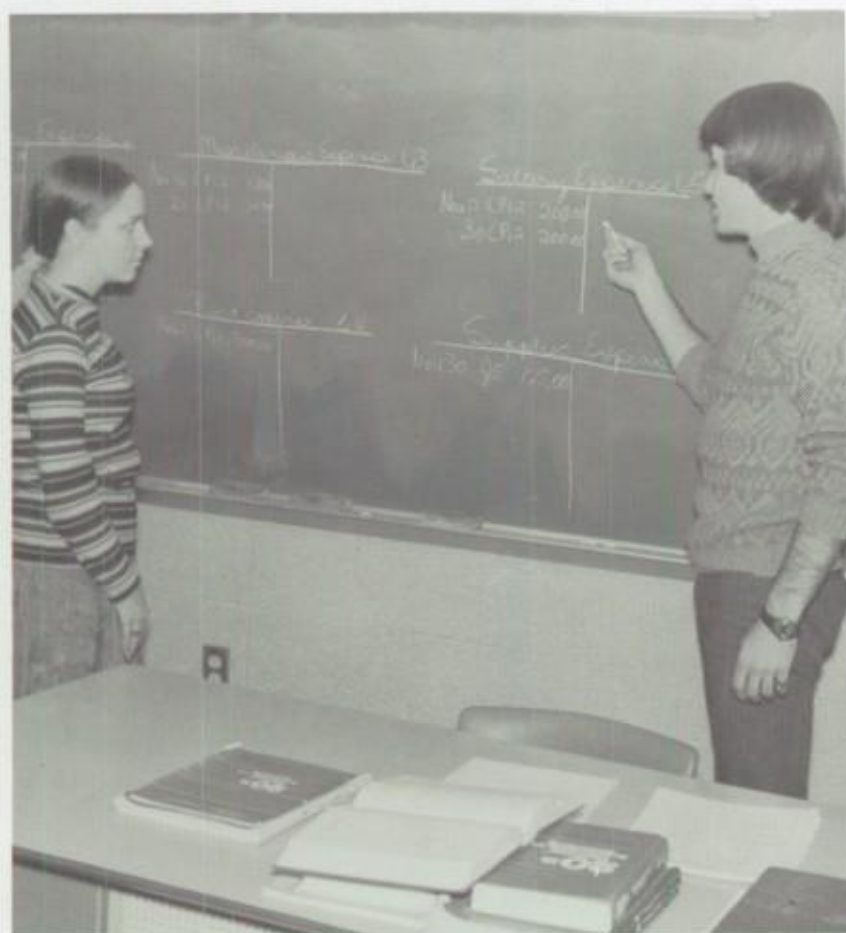

Sanding intricate parts of a bookcase, this student will then proceed to the final step of varnishing. Several coats will be applied before the project is graded.

Tasks Of Future Jobs Learned

Sue Skaggs and Jerry Jackson analyze business transactions in bookkeeping class by using T-accounts.

Owning their own business could be a dream of business students. In preparation for every facet of this venture, the business education department offers simulated training for office work.

Shorthand, typing, and office practice make tomorrow's secretaries by offering practical experiences. Filing, taking dictation, and making carbon copies of manuscripts comprise part of the tasks that will be undertaken in future work.

Organizing a merchandising business and analyzing transactions is the subject of bookkeeping. Sales, purchases, and cash payment and receipts must be recorded and posted in the proper journals, and kept in order to have an accurate financial statement at the end of the fiscal period.

Business English—business law involves legal concepts of a corporation and extends the business vocabulary. A broad knowledge of legal process and corporate diction help an owner to be successful.

Mrs. McCrary points out the steps of operating an adding machine, as shown in the instruction book, to Linda Nichols during sixth period office practice.

Playing "Mythites," a card game, these students increase their knowledge of Roman mythology.

Gary Hunsucker concentrates on learning different Spanish phrases as he listens to a language tape.

Conjugating verbs, a skill needed to master the Spanish language, is a task assigned to first year students.

Latin students express their Valentine feelings by saying "I love you" on handcrafted homemade Valentines.

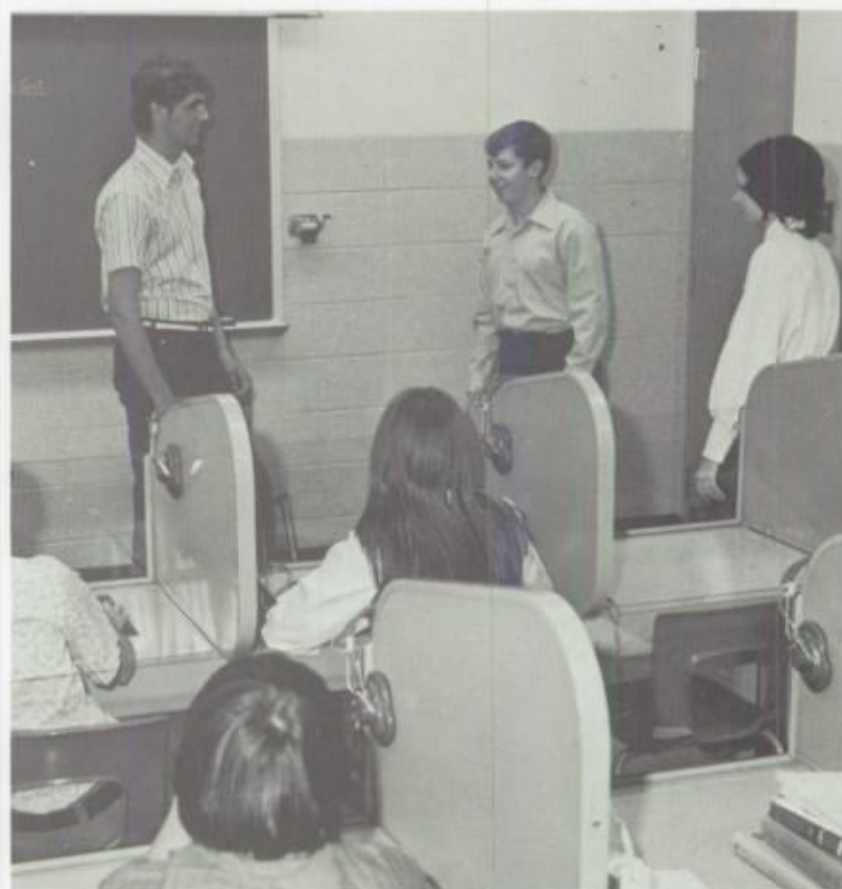

Rome, Mexico

When one was a baby the only language he could speak was the "baby" sounds of the language. But as he grew up, he soon began speaking English. Now as students enter into high school, some of them are learning to speak yet another language, Latin or Spanish.

Latin, a classical language, is most closely related to English. The sentence structure of Latin are basically the structures of English sentences and many English words are derived from Latin words.

Spanish is a conversational language and is one of the top three most frequently spoken languages in the world. Even a slight knowledge of the language enables a person to communicate in many world areas.

Through these foreign languages, students gain an insight into social and cultural behavior of many foreign people. This insight aided students who traveled to Rome and Mexico in the spring.

These students in the sixth period Spanish class present a dialogue to help them in speaking the language.

Mrs. Judd points out a book that contains many important facts that enabled these students to be winners of a Latin contest at the State Junior Classical League convention. They are: Holly Hackman, Joyce Turmail, Jan Wolka, Janet Moyer, Kathy Wessel, Jerry Hinnefeld, and Fonda Pottschmidt.

Mr. Duffy explains the "what, why, and where's" of driving experiences to the Drivers' Education class before they actually get their driver's licenses.

After collecting accident pictures from different sources, these Drivers' Education students prepare their accident notebooks, a required project.

Future Drivers Practice Skills

Traversing along I-65 toward Louisville, or cruising along a not-so-smooth country road past barns and green fields, a student driver might reminisce about his earlier driving experiences in drivers' education class.

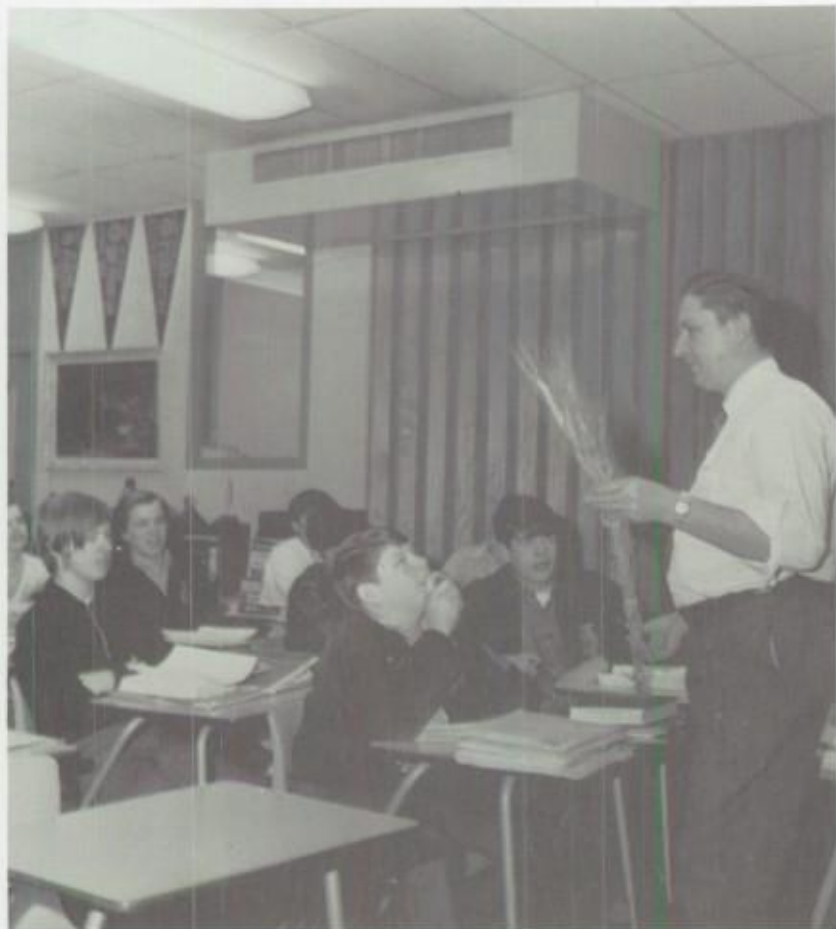

Even what would appear to be the most elementary process of all, that of starting the car, involved many safety measures. Fastening the seat belt, adjusting both side and rear view mirrors and settling into the "feel" of the seat, pedals, and steering wheel required review.

The actual driving then began. After many weeks of gaining driving hours plus classes teaching rules of the road, the proud licensed driver set off into the transit maze to become a defensive driver.

Discussing problems that might arise is something that must be done before Driver Training students actually begin driving.

Variety of Ag Courses Offered

Whether farming the back forty or working as a specialist developing a hybrid seed, a person needs a background of vocational education in agriculture. Brownstown Central High School attempts to lay the foundation for that training and to produce proficient workers in agriculture by offering special courses.

From the general underclassman course, agriculture, to the advanced two-semester classroom and lab course, farmpower mechanics, a variety of subjects are offered. Students may choose from farm mechanic courses such as ag machinery, farm structure, farm power, and welding and metal work. Other classroom and lab courses offered include advanced livestock production, farm management, horticulture, and advanced crop productions. The selections offered add up to make the Central ag department one of the best in the area.

Mr. Myers informs his freshman agriculture class about triticales, a new, small feed grain developed by crossing wheat (Triticum) with rye (Secale).

Coveralls, goggles, and gloves give protection to these boys against the intense heat and light of welders.

John Combs, Ronnie Gambrel, and Charles Miller replace motor parts in a tractor in power mechanics.

Weged between their other scholastic activities was a trip by several students to a Mock United Nations session. The session, attended by 15 BC seniors, was held at Columbus.

A first for BCHS was a football game held by the senior girls. In the powderpuff game the White Clouds were overrun by the Red Hots. Besides providing fun and excersize this game also brought in extra money for the class.

One of the biggest projects undertaken was the prom, given during their junior year. The theme chosen was "Tahitian Twilight" and the decorating theme consisted of many flowers and lots of water.

Juniors Get Thanksgiving Presents

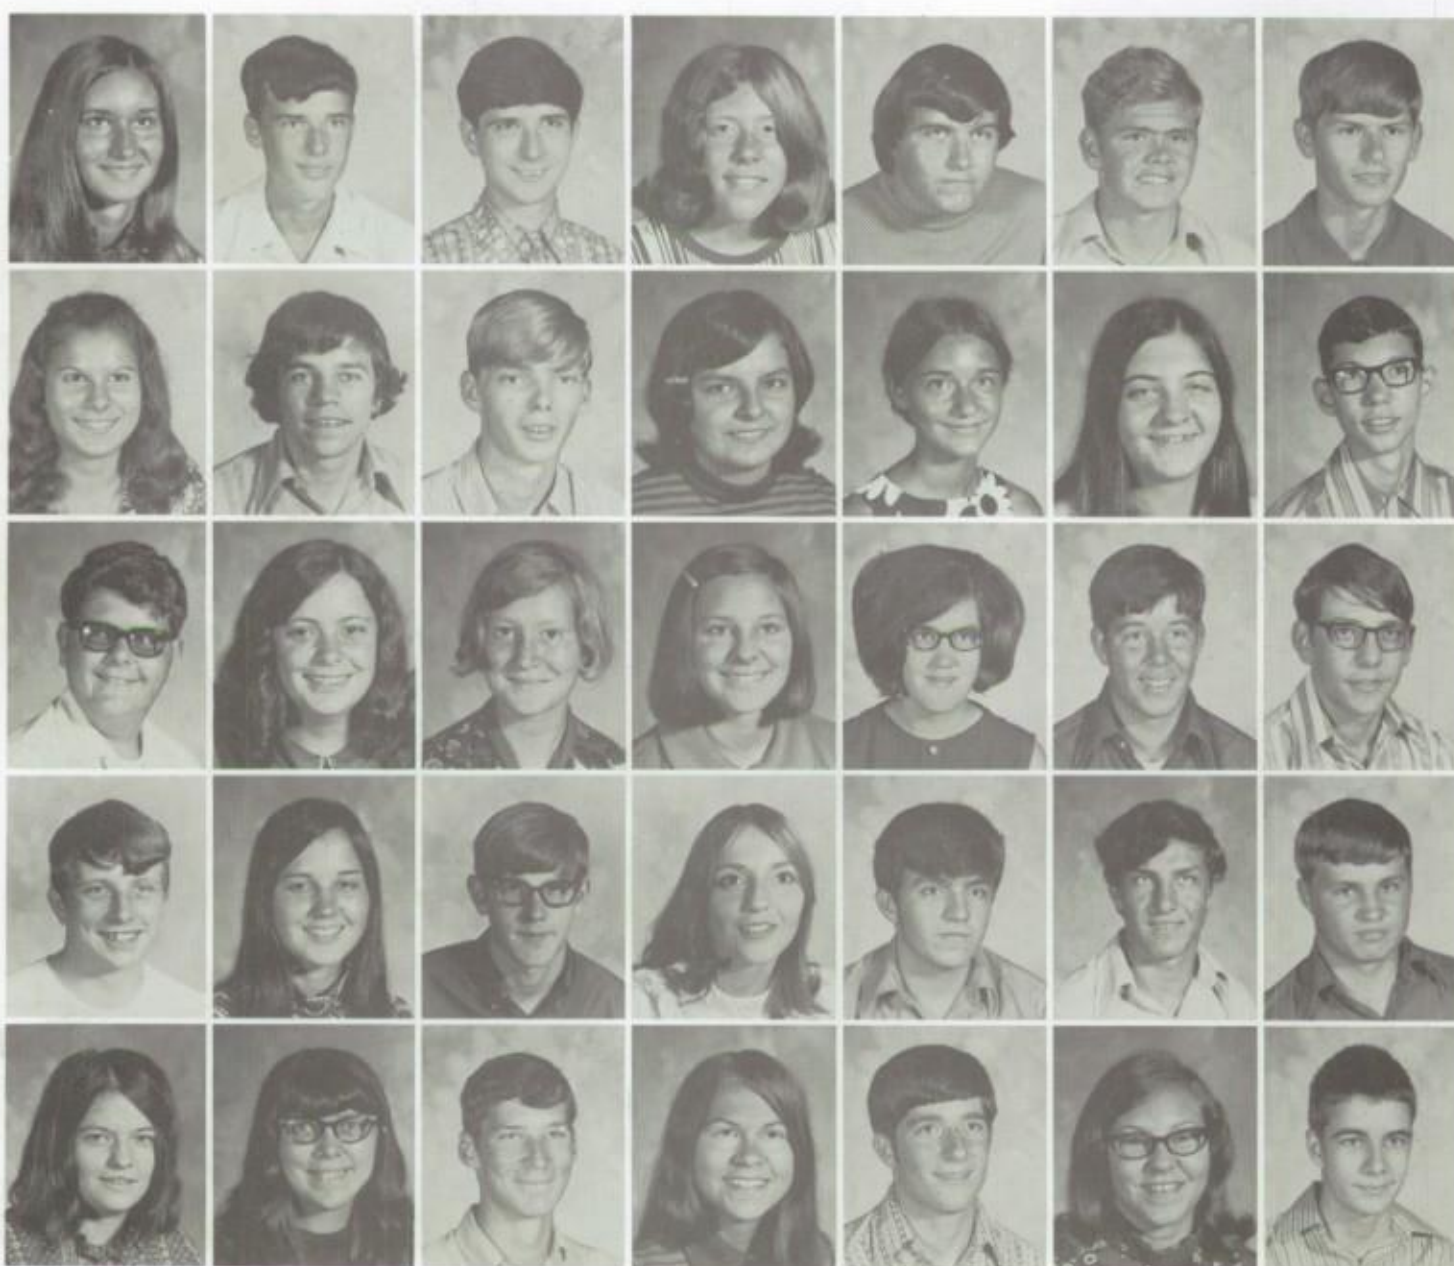

"Steering" the class of '73 through the year were Peggy Sherrill, secretary; Tom Ault, vice-president; Terry Hurt, treasurer; and Jerry Disque, president.

The junior class of 1971-72 received a welcomed surprise at the arrival of their class rings the day after Thanksgiving. Many memorable events took place from the hurried moments in the concession stands to the enchanting memories of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Composed of 135 members, the junior class overcame the handicaps of being the smallest class by making themselves well-represented in sports, as cheerleaders, and in organizations.

For money-making projects, the class of '73 was responsible for the concession stands at the varsity, freshman, and junior high basketball games. They presented the junior play, under the direction of Mrs. Jay Smith.

The class sponsors, Mr. Hinkle, Mr. Gambrel, Mr. Furr, and Mrs. Chastain, aided the juniors and their officers.

"See how loud you can yell you guys!" is just one of the many comments that may be heard by the junior class during pep sessions.

Use of signs, posters, noise makers, and skits also add to the enjoyment of pep session.

To boost the class of '73's treasury, the juniors fill the orders of hungry fans at home ballgames.

After a hard day at BCHS, these juniors are ready to "jive on down" to relax at the drug store.

At the time of this publication, school officials have word of the death of Stan Robison, a member of the Class of '73, who perished in a cabin fire on Dec. 18, 1971.

Thanksgiving Convo Is Different

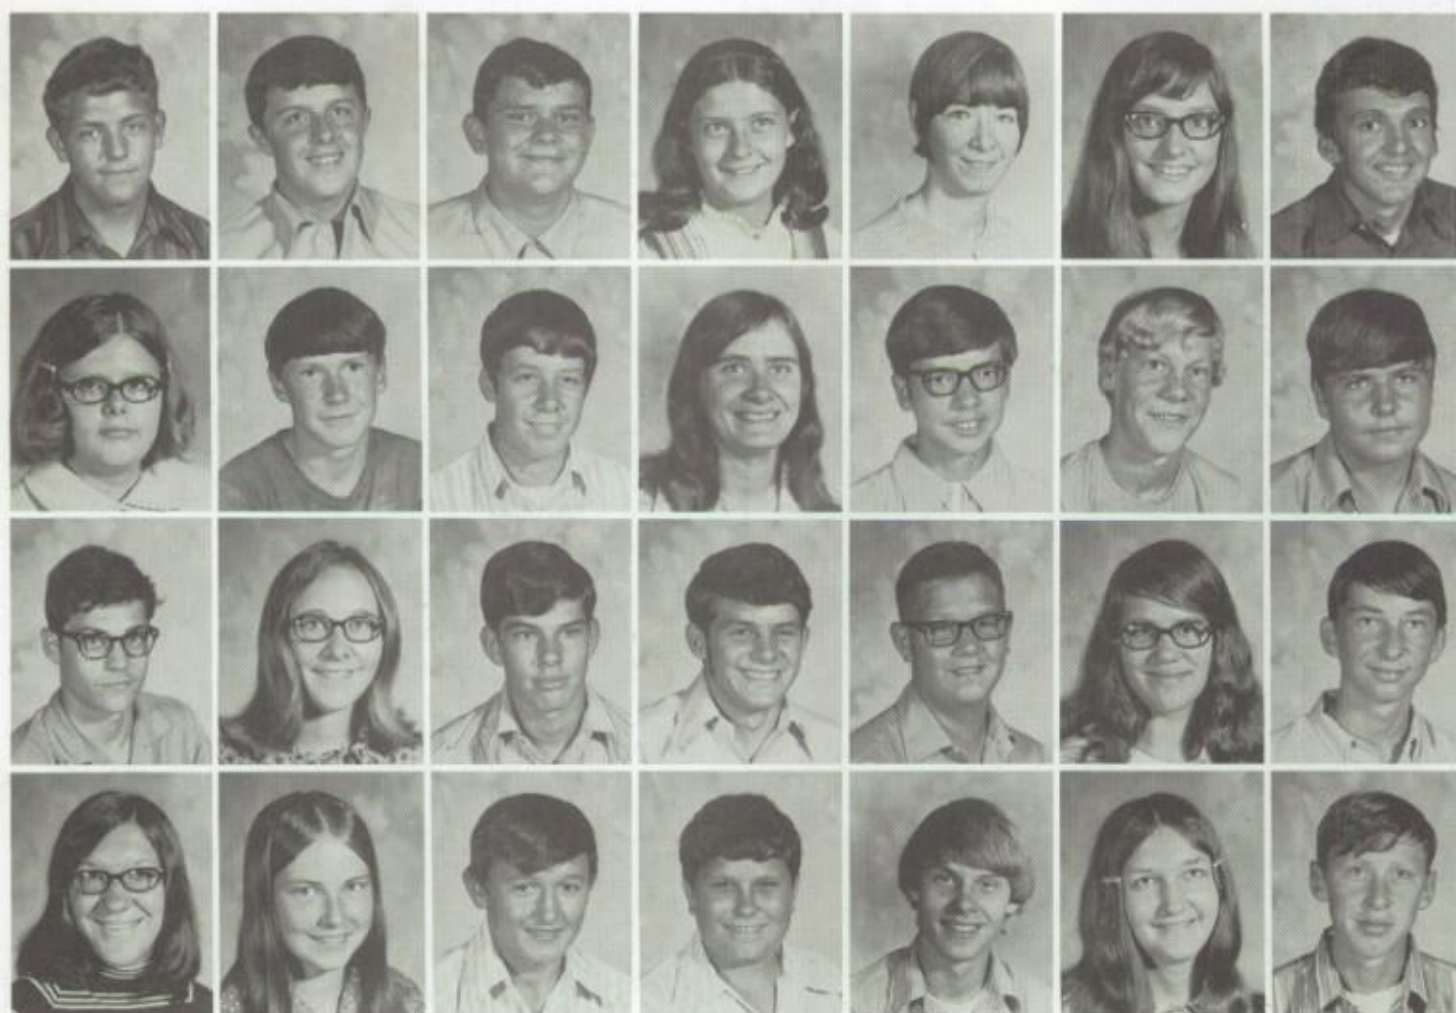

Unlike the traditional convocations at BCHS the class of '74 presented a Thanksgiving convocation that differed in many ways. Instead of a guest speaker, Rick Wilson, a sophomore, gave a sermonette on what Thanksgiving really means to him. Class members also presented a skit, "The Magnificent Magical Mechanical Doll".

Sponsors of the class were Mr. Hinnefeld, Mrs. Judd, Mr. Duffy, Mrs. Lucas, Mr. Houston, and Mrs. McCrary.

The class of '74 was represented by Jeanne Reid, Jon Scharbrough, Holly Hackman, and Dennis Carmichael on the Student Council. These students presented their class's opinions on various school topics.

Heading the sophomore class for the year '71-'72 were Glenn Durham, president; Mike Sewell, vice-president; Cheryl England, secretary; and Ray Toon, treasurer.

Working in the book store selling pencils to sophomore Joyce Anderson is Debbie Fleetwood, a senior. It is opened each morning and noon hour so that students may buy paper, notebooks, poster board, and other needed supplies.

At the time of this publication, Mike Sewell, a sophomore, has been declared missing, following a cabin fire on Dec. 18, 1971, which claimed the lives of two other BCHS students.

Experience First Homecoming

The class of '75 although the youngest group of high school students at BCHS this year were the largest group. In forces, 188 strong, the "frosh" learned what high school life, both academically and socially, is like.

The freshman had an active year as they sold pencils to help increase the class treasury, staged a large class party, and presented the Easter Convocation. Leading the class of '75 were: Doug Lucas, president; Ann Schneider, vice-president; Lisa Cummings, secretary; and Paula Crockett, treasurer. Student Council representatives were Donna Disque, David Clark, Aletha Bowman, and Mary Ann Hollin.

Sponsors of the class were Mr. Neal, Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Harrison, Mr. Roessler, Mr. Rose, and Mr. Spray.

Rainy days can't wipe the smiles off the faces of the Freshman class officers: Ann Schneider, vice-president; Doug Lucas, president; Paula Crockett, treasurer; and Lisa Cummings, secretary.

Busy with the freshman fund raising projects, president Doug Lucas gives pencils to and collects money from Cindy Hutchinson, Jill Persinger, Danny Pyatt, and David McCrary.

New Experiences Learned

The class of '76 have eagerly awaited the time when they will become full fledged high school students. While they were still eighth graders, they were able to sponsor an after game dance and have a class party.

They were eligible to be members of Booster Club, jr. high choir, become cheerleaders, and participate in junior high football, basketball, and track.

This years class officers included Mervin Oakes, president; Jeff Brown, vice-president; Katrina Spurlock, secretary; and Tammy Scott, treasurer. Student Council representatives were Julie Hackman and Tom Kieffer. These students kept the class of '76 informed on all school decisions.

Sponsors for the 144 eighth graders were Mrs. Percy, Mr. Snyder, Mr. Stuckwisch, Mr. Louden, and Mr. Myers.

Leading the class of '76 through their new experiences were Mervin Oakes, president; Jeff Brown, vice-president; Katrina Spurlock, secretary, and Tammy Scott, treasurer.

A large, bold, black number '25' is the central focus of the card. The background is filled with a repeating pattern of stylized, swirling lines that resemble flames or decorative flourishes. The text 'Congratulations' is written in a serif font, with the '2' of '25' acting as a large initial for the word. Below it, 'Class of' is written in a similar font.
